Ohio Gang Figure, Son, Are Killed In Car Bombing

11-Year-Old Also Victim Of Tragedy

Cadillac Charley Cavallaro Once Ordered Deported

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (UPI) — Charles (Cadillac Charley) Cavallaro, once ordered deported after he was linked to Detroit's notorious Purple Gang, and his 11-year-old son were killed by a dynamite bomb in their car Friday.

City officials who count nine persons killed in gangland type slayings in this area in recent years immediately appealed to state and federal authorities to help clean up racketeering in the area.

Cadillac Charley, who loved fine cars, and his two boys, out of school because of the Thanksgiving holiday, walked out of their luxurious home just before noon to go on a drive.

But as Cavallaro touched the starter, a powerful explosion killed the man and his son in the front seat, seriously injured the other boy and caused extensive damage in this steel mill area.

Mayor Harry Sevasten announced the arrest of a suspect on an open charge as he branded the killings as "the work of the syndicate."

Never Convicted

Police records showed that Cavallaro often had been questioned about racketeering and ga gland slayings, but he had never been convicted of anything other than speeding and for blocking a sidewalk, a charge that grew out of former Police Chief Edward J. Allen, a reform chief who made a major drive on the rackets in the mid-1950s before Sen. Frank J .Lausche, at that time Ohio governor, named him to head the state Liquor Department.

Allen claimed that Cavallaro was tied to the Detroit Purple Gang, a charge that led to the federal government ordering him deported in 1953 for having entered this country in New Orleans as a stowaway in 1921. The order was appealed and as far as local officers knews, is still pending.

Police said the method of the killers appeared to be the same as the bombings which have killed several persons believed involved in the racke' in recent years.

Innocent Child Killed

But little Thomas Cavallaro, at 11, became the first innocent bystander killed in the various shootings and bombings which have become commonplace in this Mahoning Valley area.

Police and firemen arriving at the scene in the quiet, well-to-do neighborhood heard a child crying in the rubble and found his brother, Charles Jr., 12, underneath the debris. He underwent head surgery and was expected to recover.

Mrs. Helen Cavallaro was hysterical as she stood in the rubble crying, "My children need me and I can't help them."

Neighbors said little Tommy had been mowing la..ns and doing odd jobs in the neighborhood to get money to buy his mother a Christm.. gift. They said he had e..rned $4.75.

Police Lt. John Terlesky, chief of the detective bureau, said Mrs. Cavallaro has two other children, Allen, 17, and Mona, 15. They were in seclusion Friday night.

This was the second attempt on Cavallaro's lif in three y..rs, po-

Holiday Death Toll Goes Higher

The toll of accidental deaths mounted Friday as the Thanksgiving holiday reached its midpoint.

A rash of multiple-fatality traffic accidents spurred the highway death total.

There were no National Safety Council predictions for the 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday period. The council said holiday travel isn't as heavy on Thanksgiving as on other major holidays, although it said about 480 traffic deaths would normally occur in a Thursday-to-Sunday span.

However, an Associated Press tally of accidental deaths for a nonholiday, 102-hour span from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 7, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 11, showed 459 highway deaths, 30 fire deaths and 113 miscellaneous deaths.

Many states reported auto crashes which killed three, four of five persons. In Texas, two separate accidents killed five persons each. A two-car smashup in Illinois fatally injured four persons. Four University of Omaha students died in a car-train accident near Omaha.

A year ago 457 lives were lost in traffic accidents, 40 in fires and 105 in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 602.

Viscount Plummets Into Woods

10 Employes Of Airline Among Victims

By LUTHER MOORE

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — A United Air Lines Viscount plane plummeted from a bright, sunny sky today and crashed in a woods on a farm near here. All 17 persons aboard were killed.

It was United Flight 297 enroute from Newark, N. J., to Atlanta, Ga. Four crewmen and 13 passengers were killed, including 10 persons employed by United.

One of the passengers was Spencer Silverthorne, of New York, president of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce, who was en route to Atlanta to attend a wedding.

The Federal Aviation Agency reported the pilot gave no hint of impending trouble before the plane disappeared from a radar scope. The Viscount was preparing for a landing at Washington's National Airport.

The FAA said radio communications with the craft before the crash were "entirely routine" and that the pilot had acknowledged a routine instruction only three minutes before.

Intense Heat

A farmer who arrived on the scene immediately after the crash said the heat was so intense he could not go near it.

"I got in my car right after the crash and drove down to the woods where the plane crashed, but there was nothing I could do," said Clark Gaither, owner of the farm where the plane crashed.

"I heard the sputtering motor and then there was silence," Mrs. Gaither said. She said she was sitting at the kitchen table having lunch with her husband.

"We waited for the engine to come back on. It never did." She said there was a loud explosion. She rushed to the back door and looked across the rolling farmland of Howard County.

"There was a tremendous explosion and a mass of flames," she said. "Then there were two more explosions, not as loud as the first."

Thomas J. Jenkins, agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said he had been asked to send a disaster squad from his office to help identify the bodies.

Kennedy Seen Meeting With Macmillan

HYANNIS PORT, Mass (AP) — A meeting between President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was termed Friday highly probable for the near future. The precise reason for the parley was not immediately specified.

Kennedy got a progress report on Cuban matters from his top advisers.

He met for more than an hour with the executive committee of the National Security Council and sat down with defense and budget men to go over the big military spending budget for next year, when it may hit an estimated $48.3 billion.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said it is highly probable that the President will meet some time soon with Macmillan.

Hatcher refused to be pinned down on the date or place or the probable meeting, but it could be in either Washington or Bermuda, where they have met before. It would be the sixth meeting between the two since Kennedy took office.

Khrushchev Switches Personnel

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Communist party Central Committee Friday approved Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's plan to tighten party control over the economy and announced a high level series of personnel changes.

Top man among those moved was Russian Federation Premier Dimitry Polyansky, who became one of seven Soviet deputy premiers.

Informed Western observers said Polyansky, who has often been tabbed as a Khrushchev protege, may have slipped slightly through the switch. They said the final assessment would have to wait to see whether the 44-year-old presidium member receives new duties as deputy premier.

Western observers said there was no indication that the personnel changes meant a loss of power for Khrushchev.

The Soviet leader delivered a speech to the Central Committee Friday but its contents were not immediately disclosed.

There was some speculation in Western circles the speech may have touched on foreign affairs.

The changes, they said, appeared to be designed to boost younger men into new jobs in the

Aviation Axiom Repeated As Three Crashes Occur

By United Press International

An old aviation axiom that says bad crashes come in threes came true Friday. A total of 57 persons died in three widely separated crashes around the globe.

—A United Air Lines prop-jet Viscount, bound from Newark, N. J. to Washington, crashed in perfect weather near Laurel, Md., after it had begun its approach for a landing at Washington's National Airport. All 17 persons aboard were killed.

—In Paris, a Russian - made Hungarian airlines Ilyushin 18 turbo-prop crashed and burned while on an instrument landing approach to Le Bourget Airport, killing all 21 persons aboard.

—A Portuguese air force transport plane — an American made, four - engine C54 — caught fire in the air and crashed shortly after takeoff from the equatorial island of Sao Tome off the west coast of Africa. Eighteen of the 32 persons aboard perished — including six women performers of a well-known Lisbon show company who had been on a tour for Portuguese forces in Angola.

There was no cause immediately available for any of the crashest. There were no U.S. citizens in either of the overseas crashes.

Maryland state police said that the United plane that crashed just outside the nation's capital might have exploded in flight. A state police sergeant said he had reports that after an explosion bits of flaming wreckage fell on a farm.

In Paris, the Hungarian Airlines plane was coming in for a landing in heavy fog when it—like the United plane — suddenly disappeared from the radar scopes of control tower personnel.

The crash on the island of Tome came shortly after the transport had taken off. Airport authorities said the plane was about 20 miles from the airport when it caught fire. All the 14 survivors of that crash suffered burns, but only one was reported in serious condition.

Minnesota Board Refuses To Name State Governor

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Canvassing Board refused Friday to certify a winner in the state's closest governor's race in a century.

The board deferred to a further session Monday the question of certifying Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen or Democrat Karl Rolvaag the winner. Andersen has a 142-vote lead in unofficial tabulations.

The board will study again Monday the question of whether to certify amended canvass figures from 10 of Minnesota's 87 counties.

A recount is considered likely.

The board certified Democrat Alec Olson the winner of a seat in Congress over Republican Robert J. Odegard by 448 votes. Odegard has filed notice of a recount

Nehru Warns Not To Expect Quick Peace

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

NEW DELHI, India (AP)— Prime Minister Nehru warned the nation Friday night not to expect diplomatic moves — presumably Red China's peace offer—to bring a quick end to the Himalayan border war. He indicated he believes fighting now halted by a Communist cease-fire will erupt again.

Nehru's remarks were announced after he held conferences with special U.S. and British military aid missions on ways to bolster India's military strength against Red China's war machine.

In a written message to a youth rally, the 73-year-old Indian leader predicted "a long struggle and a difficult one, and we must not imagine that the struggle will be over soon because of various diplomatic moves."

Nehru has not announced his position on the Red Chinese offer to end the conflict but his message to the rally was the closest he has come to rejecting the offer. Feeling in India was running high against accepting the Peking terms, for this would mean India would have to give up claim to 12,000 square miles in Ladakh on the northwestern end of the disputed Himalayan borderlands.

Red China indicated it wanted no stalling from the Indians on its offer.

A New China News Agency br..dcast monitored in Tokyo quoted the deputy premier and foreign minister, Chen Yi, as saying he hoped India would make a quick and positive response.

The Chinese on Oct. 24 put forth a three-point proposal calling for both nations to pull back 12½ miles from what they called the actual control line, a halt to fighting and a summit conference between Nehru and Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

..t Wednesday, the Red Chinese ordered their troops to silence their guns. They said they would pull back their forces 12½ miles on Dec. 1.

Christmas Mail May Set Record

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Post Office Department said Friday it will handle an expected record of 10 billion pieces of Christmas mail this year with fewer employes than last year.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day said increased efficiency will enable the department to do the job with only 150,000 temporary employes without reducing service. This is 70,000 fewer than were used last year during the Christmas rush.

He said the department again plans to use a once-a-day delivery schedule for homes under a program calling for a more thorough sorting process at the start of the day.

Preacher Gets 90-Day Term In Texas Court

HENDERSON, Tex. (UPI) — County Judge Charles Lankford fined a married Baptist preacher $500 and sent him to jail for 90 days Friday for running off to Kansas with a 16-year-old choir girl.

The father of the girl, Flora Jean Cole, had asked Judge Lankford to be merciful to the preacher, the Rev. Leroy Daniels 26. Daniels pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

"In my estimation, there is hardly any crime greater than contributing to the delinquency of a minor," Lankford said.

Daniels stood calmly before the judge. He did not have a lawyer. The court session lasted five minutes. Daniels faced the judge in white leather jacket and light gray trousers. Flora Jean was not in court.

But her father, Roy Cole, was. So was the preacher's father, B.J. Daniels.

A reporter asked the younger Daniels whether he was satisfied with his sentence. Daniels would not answer and a deputy sheriff took him out to begin serving his sentence in the county jail.

The sheriff can reduce the sentence 30 days for good behavior. Daniels did not pay his $500 fine immediately. He must stay in jail until he pays the fine.

Daniels' church was at nearby Tatum, Tex. He and Flora Jean, who now plan to be married, left together after a high school football game Nov. 2. They were arrested in Wichita, Kan., Wednesday.

They had set up housekeeping in a faded rooming house district. Daniels was working in a wholesale liquor store.

Flora Jean's father has consented to a wedding as soon as Daniels' bride of four months can get a divorce. Mrs. Daniels has asked for a divorce and Daniels has signed papers giving his consent.

The 90-pound Flora Jean time and again has asserted her love for him.

Professor Says Literature Taught Poorly In Most U.S. High Schools

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A college professor said Friday that high school students are learning little or nothing about literature, and won't until "scandalously bad textbooks" are abandoned.

Arthur S. Trace Jr., of John Carroll University in Cleveland, Ohio, told the National Council of Teachers of English:

"For all practical purposes the literature of foreign countries is ignored entirely; English literature is at best wretchedly represented; nor can our students learn anything significant about the best literature of our own country or even its second-best literature."

The textbooks for grades 7 through 10, Trace said in a prepared speech, constitute a "literary limbo, a literary wasteland." And, he said, "if the textbook is bad, the teacher no matter how good he may be, is severely handicapped."

Trace said the textbooks for grades 11 and 12 on the whole "are vastly better than for the earlier grades. The difficulty here is that a respectable knowledge of our literary heritage is not acquired in a year and a day, and these quickie courses are enough to confuse the student utterly as to who wrote what, when, as any college literature teacher will warmly testify."

To improve the literature program in the schools, he said, "it would clearly be necessary to abandon entirely the scandalously bad textbooks. For until these textbooks are abandoned, no strong and truly rewarding literature program in our high schools is possible."

Trace said "publishers publish what they can sell and they do not publish what they can't sell. It is those who choose the textbooks who create the market, and it is they, not the publishers, who must bear the greatest responsibility."

Trace, who made a detailed study of textbooks and anthologies used in the schools, cited these cases:

—One 8th-grade text took 40 per cent of its selections from popular American magazines.

—A 7th-grade reader turned Washington Irving's legend of Sleepy Hollow into a radio script.

—A 9th-grade reader tells Shakespeare's story of Romeo and Juliet in scenario form in 12 pages with 16 illustrations. "Instead of reading what Romeo and Juliet said on the balcony, the student is merely told that 'Romeo and Juliet speak to each other in the language that all lovers would use if they could.'"

Air Defense Alert Stays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department held air defense forces in Florida on a continued special alert Friday, but relaxed requirements imposed for the Cuban crisis in other parts of the country.

The department said the Air Defense Command has been authorized to return its planes from dispersal locations to home stations in all areas except Florida and the southeast United States.

In the Tactical Air Command—or ground troop support — units were authorized to return to home stations from all parts of the country, including the southeast.

The Tactical Air Command said that units from Luke Air Force Base in Arizona and Nellis Air Force base in Nevada, which had been stationed in the southeast, began returning to their home bases Thursday.

Los Angeles Man Still Attracts Big Money

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Douglas Johnson has an enviable dilemma: He attracts big money.

Last year the 52-year-old Negro, while struggling with his wife, Heleen, to make ends meet, found a quarter of a million dollars that had fallen into the street from a Brink's armoured truck.

Johnson—then a janitor-forthwith returned the unmarked money, still in its sack, to the Brink's company and received a $10,000 reward for being "the world's most honest man."

It was revealed Friday that Johnson, now making a modest living in the construction hauling business, bought a money order Wednesday from a commercial money order firm for $36. But the machine which printed the order made a $90,000 mistake—in Johnson's favor.

The check, payable upon the U. S. National Bank of San Diego, Calif., read $90,036 and 00 cents instead of $36.

Johnson bought the money order to pay Wiley Simpson, 38, wages for work as a helper on Johnson's truck. Johnson said Simpson would return the check to him and he would take it to the money order firm and get a new order.

Although Johnson said he discovered the error on Thanksgiving Day, he did not consider it something to be thankful for.

When Johnson found the Brinks money, he observed, "I hope I never find anymore money like this."

Regarding this week's money order mistake in his favor, Johnson said he had notified the money order firm of its printing error.

"I could sure use that money," he said. "But not enough to get it the wrong way. It isn't my money, so it will have to go back. Boy, I sure have bad luck when it comes to finding money!"

—A United Air Lines prop-jet Viscount, bound from Newark, N. J. to Washington, crashed in perfect weather near Laurel, Md., after it had begun its approach for a landing at Washington's National Airport. All 17 persons aboard were killed.

—In Paris, a Russian - made Hungarian airlines Ilyushin 18 turbo-prop crashed and burned while on an instrument landing approach to Le Bourget Airport, killing all 21 persons aboard.

—A Portuguese air force transport plane — an American made, four - engine C54 — caught fire in the air and crashed shortly after takeoff from the equatorial island of Sao Tome off the west coast of Africa. Eighteen of the 32 persons aboard perished — including six women performers of a well-known Lisbon show company who had been on a tour for Portuguese forces in Angola.

There was no cause immediately available for any of the crashest. There were no U.S. citizens in either of the overseas crashes.

Maryland state police said that the United plane that crashed just outside the nation's capital might have exploded in flight. A state police sergeant said he had reports that after an explosion bits of flaming wreckage fell on a farm.

In Paris, the Hungarian Airlines plane was coming in for a landing in heavy fog when it—like the United plane — suddenly disappeared from the radar scopes of control tower personnel.

The crash on the island of Tome came shortly after the transport had taken off. Airport authorities said the plane was about 20 miles from the airport when it caught fire. All the 14 survivors of that crash suffered burns, but only one was reported in serious condition.

Minnesota Board Refuses To Name State Governor

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Canvassing Board refused Friday to certify a winner in the state's closest governor's race in a century.

The board deferred to a further session Monday the question of certifying Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen or Democrat Karl Rolvaag the winner. Andersen has a 142-vote lead in unofficial tabulations.

The board will study again Monday the question of whether to certify amended canvass figures from 10 of Minnesota's 87 counties.

A recount is considered likely.

The board certified Democrat Alec Olson the winner of a seat in Congress over Republican Robert J. Odegard by 448 votes. Odegard has filed notice of a recount

Nehru Warns Not To Expect Quick Peace

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru warned the nation Friday night not to expect diplomatic moves — presumably Red China's peace offer—to bring a quick end to the Himalayan border war. He indicated he believes fighting now halted by a Communist cease-fire will erupt again.

Nehru's remarks were announced after he held conferences with special U.S. and British military aid missions on ways to bolster India's military strength against Red China's war machine.

In a written message to a youth rally, the 73-year-old Indian leader predicted "a long struggle and a difficult one, and we must not imagine that the struggle will be over soon because of various diplomatic moves."

Nehru has not announced his position on the Red Chinese offer to end the conflict but his message to the rally was the closest he has come to rejecting the offer. Feeling in India was running high against accepting the Peking terms, for this would mean India would have to give up claim to 12,000 square miles in Ladakh on the northwestern end of the disputed Himalayan borderlands.

Red China indicated it wanted no stalling from the Indians on its offer.

A New China News Agency br adcast monitored in Tokyo quoted the deputy premier and foreign minister, Chen Yi, as saying he hoped India would make a quick and positive response.

The Chinese on Oct. 24 put forth a three-point proposal calling for both nations to pull back 12½ miles from what they called the actual control line, a halt to fighting and a summit conference between Nehru and Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

At Wednesday, the Red Chinese ordered their troops to silence their guns. They said they would pull back their forces 12½ miles on Dec. 1.

Christmas Mail May Set Record

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Post Office Department said Friday it will handle an expected record of 10 billion pieces of Christmas mail this year with fewer employes than last year.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day said increased efficiency will enable the department to do the job with only 150,000 temporary employes without reducing service. This is 70,000 fewer than were used last year during the Christmas rush.

He said the department again plans to use a once-a-day delivery schedule for homes under a program calling for a more thorough sorting process at the start of the day.

Preacher Gets 90-Day Term In Texas Court

HENDERSON, Tex. (UPI) — County Judge Charles Lankford fined a married Baptist preacher $500 and sent him to jail for 90 days Friday for running off to Kansas with a 16-year-old choir girl.

The father of the girl, Flora Jean Cole, had asked Judge Lankford to be merciful to the preacher, the Rev. Leroy Daniels 26. Daniels pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

"In my estimation, there is hardly any crime greater than contributing to the delinquency of a minor," Lankford said.

Daniels stood calmly before the judge. He did not have a lawyer. The court session lasted five minutes. Daniels faced the judge in white leather jacket and light gray trousers. Flora Jean was not in court.

But her father, Roy Cole, was. So was the preacher's father, B.J. Daniels.

A reporter asked the younger Daniels whether he was satisfied with his sentence. Daniels would not answer and a deputy sheriff took him out to begin serving his sentence in the county jail.

The sheriff can reduce the sentence 30 days for good behavior. Daniels did not pay his $500 fine immediately. He must stay in jail until he pays the fine.

Daniels' church was at nearby Tatum, Tex. He and Flora Jean, who now plan to be married, left together after a high school football game Nov. 2. They were arrested in Wichita, Kan., Wednesday.

They had set up housekeeping in a faded rooming house district. Daniels was working in a wholesale liquor store.

Flora Jean's father has consented to a wedding as soon as Daniels' bride of four months can get a divorce. Mrs. Daniels has asked for a divorce and Daniels has signed papers giving his consent.

The 90-pound Flora Jean time and again has asserted her love for him.

Air Defense Alert Stays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department held air defense forces in Florida on a continued special alert Friday, but relaxed requirements imposed for the Cuban crisis in other parts of the country.

The department said the Air Defense Command has been authorized to return its planes from dispersal locations to home stations in all areas except Florida and the southeast United States.

In the Tactical Air Command—or ground troop support — units were authorized to return to home stations from all parts of the country, including the southeast.

The Tactical Air Command said that units from Luke Air Force Base in Arizona and Nellis Air Force base in Nevada, which had been stationed in the southeast, began returning to their home bases Thursday.

Professor Says Literature Taught Poorly In Most U.S. High Schools

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A college professor said Friday that high school students are learning little or nothing about literature, and won't until "scandalously bad textbooks" are abandoned.

Arthur S. Trace Jr., of John Carroll University in Cleveland, Ohio, told the National Council of Teachers of English:

"For all practical purposes the literature of foreign countries is ignored entirely; English literature is at best wretchedly represented; nor can our students learn anything significant about the best literature of our own country or even its second-best literature."

The textbooks for grades 7 through 10, Trace said in a prepared speech, constitute a "literary limbo, a literary wasteland." And, he said, "if the textbook is bad, the teacher no matter how good he may be, is severely handicapped."

Trace said the textbooks for grades 11 and 12 on the whole "are vastly better than for the earlier grades. The difficulty here is that a respectable knowledge of our literary heritage is not acquired in a year and a day, and these quickie courses are enough to confuse the student utterly as to who wrote what, when, as any college literature teacher will warmly testify."

To improve the literature program in the schools, he said, "it would clearly be necessary to abandon entirely the scandalously bad textbooks. For until these textbooks are abandoned, no strong and truly rewarding literature program in our high schools is possible."

Trace said "publishers publish what they can sell and they do not publish what they can't sell. It is those who choose the textbooks who create the market, and it is they, not the publishers, who must bear the greatest responsibility."

Trace, who made a detailed study of textbooks and anthologies used in the schools, cited these cases:

—One 8th-grade text took 40 per cent of its selections from popular American magazines.

—A 7th-grade reader turned Washington Irving's legend of Sleepy Hollow into a radio script.

—A 9th-grade reader tells Shakespeare's story of Romeo and Juliet in scenario form in 12 pages with 16 illustrations. "Instead of reading what Romeo and Juliet said on the balcony, the student is merely told that 'Romeo and Juliet speak to each other in the language that all lovers would use if they could.'"

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Allison Division of General Motors said Friday it has obtained a $10.16 million Air Force subcontract to make titanium second-stage rocket motor cases for the Minute Man missile. Aerojet General Corp. awarded the subcontract.

Los Angeles Man Still Attracts Big Money

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Douglas Johnson has an enviable dilemma: He attracts big money.

Last year the 52-year-old Negro, while struggling with his wife, Heleen, to make ends meet, found a quarter of a million dollars that had fallen into the street from a Brink's armoured truck.

Johnson—then a janitor-forthwith returned the unmarked money, still in its sack, to the Brink's company and received a $10,000 reward for being "the world's most honest man."

It was revealed Friday that Johnson, now making a modest living in the construction hauling business, bought a money order Wednesday from a commercial money order firm for $36. But the machine which printed the order made a $90,000 mistake—in Johnson's favor.

The check, payable upon the U. S. National Bank of San Diego, Calif., read $90,036 and 00 cents instead of $36.

Johnson bought the money order to pay Wiley Simpson, 38, wages for work as a helper on Johnson's truck. Johnson said Simpson would return the check to him and he would take it to the money order firm and get a new order.

Although Johnson said he discovered the error on Thanksgiving Day, he did not consider it something to be thankful for.

When Johnson found the Brinks money, he observed, "I hope I never find anymore money like this."

Regarding this week's money order mistake in his favor, Johnson said he had notified the money order firm of its printing error.

"I could sure use that money," he said. "But not enough to get it the wrong way. It isn't my money, so it will have to go back. Boy, I sure have bad luck when it comes to finding money!"

West Virginia Is Only State To Decline

Estimates Reported Since 1960 Census

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nevada, Arizona and Wyoming are the fastest growing states in the nation, the Census Bureau reported Friday.

An annual estimate showed that all states but one, West Virginia, gained population since the 1960 census. Meanwhile, mushrooming California lacked 234,000 people of replacing New York as the largest state.

The provisional estimates showed total resident population, including the armed forces, as of July 1. Nevada's population rose from 285,278 on April 1, 1960, the date of the census, to 335,000 during the period of a little more than two years, a 17.3 per cent increase.

Arizona went up from 1,302,161 to 1,509,000 for a 15.9 per cent increase; Wyoming from 330,066 to 365,000 for a 10.7 per cent rise. Florida increased from 4,951,560 to 5,459,000. All other increases were under 10 per cent.

California's population jumped from 15,717,204 to 16,970,000, an 8 per cent increase. New York rose from 16,782,304 to 17,204,000, a rise of 3.7 per cent. California is gaining more than half a million people a year and New York less than a quarter of a million.

West Virginia's population declined by 4.7 per cent, dropping from 1,860,421 to 1,773,000.

All regions of the country showed population increases. The West had an 8 per cent rise, the South 4 per cent, the north central states 2.1 per cent and the northeast 2.2 per cent.

The estimates were reached by taking the 1960 census figures and figuring the births, deaths and migration in and out of the areas that have taken place since then.

Maryland Farm Woman Tells Of Plane Crash

Editor's Note: Mrs. Anna Gaither lives with her husband in a two-story gabled farm house that sits on a rise of their 100-acre Howard County farm. She came there 42 years ago as a bride and has lived a quiet and undisturbed life until Friday when a United Air Lines Viscount crashed with 17 persons aboard only 1,500 feet away from her home. She sat in the dining room Friday and told this story:

By MRS. ANNA GAITHER
As Told to The Associated Press

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP)—It was a quarter after 12 and we sat down to lunch in our kitchen. We heard the sound of an airplane near the farm. We didn't think anything of it because our farm is right under the flyway for many of the airlines.

Then we heard the motors sputtering. They cut off. We sort of listened and they never came on again. Then we heard this terrific bop—and it was a bop.

I went to the door to see. I heard a terrific explosion and I looked down in the woods right over our fence and all I saw was this mass of flames. Then one after another there were two explosions, not as loud as the first one. My husband said later that it must have been fuel tanks.

At the first instant, I thought it was a bomb and then I knew it was the plane. My husband was getting into his car already and he yelled back to me 'It was no bomb."

I called the Clarkville Fire Department and, of course, this set off the alarm in other towns in the area.

My husband reached the scene and said he met a hunter but both of them decided there was nothing they could do. My husband came back up to the house and told me that the fire was too intense to get close. He said the smoke was so thick you couldn't see anything.

Just about that time, the fire engines came rolling up the lane and my husband went outside and took them and directed them to the fire.

At that time, I didn't know whether it was a passenger or freight plane or what.

I have often noticed that the planes appear to me to be not far above those tall English walnuts outside the house.

I have always tried to be courageous during a disaster. I am glad I am that way. But there was nothing I could do today.

lice said, as they sorted out his long history.

Questioned Regularly

The records showed he was often arrested but seldom convicted and he regularly was questioned about bombings and killings.

In 1934, he was arrested for violation of the alcohol tax laws, in 1936 by the Internal Revenue Service as a fugitive and later in the same year by New York police on a fugitive warrant. He was charged in Ashtabula, Ohio, in 1943 with extortion but the charge was dismissed.

Former Chief Allen, however, attempted to link Cavallaro to the protection rackets and to the Purple Gang which operated in Detroit. He used the evidence he unearthed in the move to deport Cavallaro.

cal examiner, probed about the smoking wreckage directing state troopers, wearing long white coats, in recovering the bodies buried under pieces of the wreckage.

A volunteer fireman who arrived on the scene only minutes after the crash said: "I only saw one body. It looked something like a body."

Most of the bodies were hidden under pieces of metal. The earth was furrowed in the immediate area of the impact and surprisingly few trees were knocked down by the crash.

By 2:45 there were eight bodies covered with white tarpaulins and laid in neat rows.

An hour later, Dr. Fisher said: "All right we have enough now to call it 17." Ambulances took the bodies away.

At 3:25, FAA investigators dug the flight recorder from the wreckage. Chris Walk, FAA official called back from a vacation, said the mechanism recorded altitude, gravity, speed and other data. It is housed in a metal casing shaped like a ball and capable of sustaining great punishment.

Officials hope to learn some of the causes of the crash from examining the information gathered by the flight recorder.

The crash happened about 12:15 p. m. 10 miles southwest of Baltimore, just off Maryland 108 near Clarksville.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Christmas may be more than a month away, but Baltimore department stores already have officially declared the Christmas shopping season open.

Thousands of shoppers invaded downtown Baltimore Friday as the stores opened their holiday season with decorated store windows, Christmas trees, Santa Claus and all the usual trimmings. Baltimore police increased the number of officers in the downtown section by 100 in an effort to keep traffic moving smoothly and deter shoplifting.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Burglars took an estimated $2,800 in cash and jewelry from a Northwest Baltimore home Thursday night.

Police said the victims of the robbery were Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Fort. The loot included an eight-diamond necklace valued at $2,000, police said. Police said the thieves cut a hole in a kitchen screen and raised a window to enter the house.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 15-year-old Eastpoint, Md., boy was rescued from a workman's platform underneath a highway bridge over nearby Back River Friday after the youth had been trapped for nearly 2½ hours.

Police said the boy, James S. Lowery, had been hunting and trapping on the river in an 8-foot aluminum boat when the vessel nearly swamped. Lowery grabbed the platform, police said, and pulled himself up. There he stayed until Mrs. Frank Runge, who operates a restaurant at one end of the bridge, heard his calls for help and notified police.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Circuit Court judges here have issued orders for immediate repairs to the prisoner lock-up in the court house to insure against escapes.

Source of the trouble, officials said, is a trap door in the ceiling of one cell which provides access to utility lines. Only trouble is, it also provides a route to freedom for prisoners. None have used it thus far, although one Patuxent inmate hid in it before he was flushed out by police before he had a chance to make good his escape.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Troops of the 29th Division, Maryland National Guard, will pass in review Saturday night for Maj. Gen. William G. Purnell, their commander, who is retiring after 21 years of Guard service.

Earlier, Gen. Purnell and other 29th officers will be guests at a dinner at 5th Regiment Armory here at which Gov. Tawes will be the host. A reception will follow the ceremonies hosted by Lt. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two firemen collapsed of smoke inhalation Thursday while fighting a flash fire at the Louis Hotel here.

The flames, which shot through the top of the four-story hotel, routed 28 occupants of the building, although patrons in a first-floor restaurant, remained in the building. Officials said the fire was confined to four rooms on the top floor.

FERNDALE, Md. (AP) — Anne Arundel County Police arrested 35 persons Thursday night in what they described as a raid on a teen-age drinking party in Greenhaven.

Police said some 75 to 100 teenagers attended the party, including two 13-year-old girls. Police charged 17 of those arrested with illegal possession of alcohol. Five others were charged as juvenile delinquents. Police said they could not determine who owned the summer home where the party was being held or who sponsored it.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago met Friday in Baltimore for a send-off luncheon.

Some 26 Maryland 4-H members, 14 girls and 12, boys will attend the week-long convention in Chicago.

An estimated 1,500 young persons from the United States and a dozen foreign countries will attend the meeting.

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — The new Republican commissioners of Howard County say there will be no wholesale dismissal of county employes when the new board takes office next month.

However, the commissioners said there will be extensive study of the offices and agencies of the county government.

The statement was issued after Frederick Ford, chief of police, announced he planned to tender his resignation to let the board take whatever action it desires.

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Blair O. Rumsey is the oldest student enrolled at Shephard College. He is 72 years old.

Rumsey, who is enrolled in the philosophy department, says attending classes "has kept me from wilting away."

Two Gunmen Get $4,000 In Robbery

Maryland Car Is Abandoned

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP) — Two gunmen held up the Seven Corners branch of the Arlington-Fairfax Savings & Loan Association Friday and fled with an estimated $4,000 to $5,000 in cash.

One of the robbers, believed to be the same man who held up the same office on July 31, announced as he entered Friday:

"Well, here we are."

While one man held the four employes and a customer at pistol point, the other rifled three cash drawers and took a locked, metal cash box.

Before leaving, the men ordered the employes and customer to lie on the floor.

Police said the men escaped in a car with Maryland license plates and that the car was found abandoned later a short distance away in the Seven Corners parking lot.

William N. Ball, Vienna, manager of the office, and Mrs. Alice Sheloski, 23, a teller, said they believe one of the men is the same person who held up the office in July and got away with $1,980.

Man Charged With Bigamy

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Byron D. Weems, 28, was held for the grand jury Friday on a bigamy charge of marrying his Army commander's daughter without having divorced two other wives.

Weems was returned here from his home in Delavan, Ill., a suburb of Springfield, to face the charge. Magistrate John F. Holliday held him on $2,500 bail.

Weems married Nancy Ann Leary in Hagerstown July 11. He had been discharged from the Army a few days before at Carlisle, Pa. Maj. Alexander Leary was his commander.

Detective Lt. Grayson Wigfield testified Weems also had been married to a nurse in Illinois and a WAC private at Ft. Meade, Md. The detective said Weems produced copies of divorce papers from them, but that they were forged and fraudulent.

Detective Grayson said Weems married Sharon Pourenke at East Peoria, Ill., on March 27, 1961, and Joan Seymour, the WAC private, on May 25, 1962.

He said Weems left his third wife three days after their wedding and returned to Illinois where he is an accountant.

By MRS. ANNA GAITHER
As Told to The Associated Press

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP)—It was a quarter after 12 and we sat down to lunch in our kitchen. We heard the sound of an airplane near the farm. We didn't think anything of it because our farm is right under the flyway for many of the airlines.

Then we heard the motors sputtering. They cut off. We sort of listened and they never came on again. Then we heard this terrific bop—and it was a bop.

I went to the door to see. I heard a terrific explosion and I looked down in the woods right over our fence and all I saw was this mass of flames. Then one after another there were two explosions, not as loud as the first one. My husband said later that it must have been fuel tanks.

At the first instant, I thought it was a bomb and then I knew it was the plane. My husband was getting into his car already and he yelled back to me 'It was no bomb.'

I called the Clarkville Fire Department and, of course, this set off the alarm in other towns in the area.

My husband reached the scene and said he met a hunter but both of them decided there was nothing they could do. My husband came back up to the house and told me that the fire was too intense to get close. He said the smoke was so thick you couldn't see anything.

Just about that time, the fire engines came rolling up the lane and my husband went outside and took them and directed them to the fire.

At that time, I didn't know whether it was a passenger or freight plane or what.

I have often noticed that the planes appear to me to be not far above those tall English walnuts outside the house.

I have always tried to be courageous during a disaster. I am glad I am that way. But there was nothing I could do today.

11-Year-Old

lice said, as they sorted out his long history.

Questioned Regularly

The records showed he was often arrested but seldom convicted and he regularly was questioned about bombings and killings.

In 1934, he was arrested for violation of the alcohol tax laws, in 1936 by the Internal Revenue Service as a fugitive and later in the same year by New York police on a fugitive warrant. He was charged in Ashtabula, Ohio, in 1943 with extortion but the charge was dismissed.

Former Chief Allen, however, attempted to link Cavallaro to the protection rackets and to the Purple Gang which operated in Detroit. He used the evidence he unearthed in the move to deport Cavallaro.

cal examiner, probed about the smoking wreckage directing state troopers, wearing long white coats, in recovering the bodies buried under pieces of the wreckage.

A volunteer fireman who arrived on the scene only minutes after the crash said: "I only saw one body. It looked something like a body."

Most of the bodies were hidden under pieces of metal. The earth was furrowed in the immediate area of the impact and surprisingly few trees were knocked down by the crash.

By 2:45 there were eight bodies covered with white tarpaulins and laid in neat rows.

An hour later, Dr. Fisher said: "All right we have enough now to call it 17." Ambulances took the bodies away.

At 3:25, FAA investigators dug the flight recorder from the wreckage. Chris Walk, FAA official called back from a vacation, said the mechanism recorded altitude, gravity, speed and other data. It is housed in a metal casing shaped like a ball and capable of sustaining great punishment.

Officials hope to learn some of the causes of the crash from examining the information gathered by the flight recorder.

The crash happened about 12:15 p. m. 10 miles southwest of Baltimore, just off Maryland 108 near Clarksville.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Ignacio Juan Galvez Allende, 16, has been given a life sentence for murder, the youngest ever to receive such a sentence in Chile. He was convicted of a robbery-murder that netted him only $2.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Christmas may be more than a month away, but Baltimore department stores already have officially declared the Christmas shopping season open.

Thousands of shoppers invaded downtown Baltimore Friday as the stores opened their holiday season with decorated store windows, Christmas trees, Santa Claus and all the usual trimmings. Baltimore police increased the number of officers in the downtown section by 100 in an effort to keep traffic moving smoothly and deter shoplifting.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Burglars took an estimated $2,800 in cash and jewelry from a Northwest Baltimore home Thursday night.

Police said the victims of the robbery were Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Fort. The loot included an eight-diamond necklace valued at $2,000, police said. Police said the thieves cut a hole in a kitchen screen and raised a window to enter the house.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 15-year-old Eastpoint, Md., boy was rescued from a workman's platform underneath a highway bridge over nearby Back River Friday after the youth had been trapped for nearly 2½ hours.

Police said the boy, James S. Lowery, had been hunting and trapping on the river in an 8-foot aluminum boat when the vessel nearly swamped. Lowery grabbed the platform, police said, and pulled himself up. There he stayed until Mrs. Frank Runge, who operates a restaurant at one end of the bridge, heard his calls for help and notified police.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Circuit Court judges here have issued orders for immediate repairs to the prisoner lock-up in the court house to insure against escapes.

Source of the trouble, officials said, is a trap door in the ceiling of one cell which provides access to utility lines. Only trouble is, it also provides a route to freedom for prisoners. None have used it thus far, although one Patuxent inmate hid in it before he was flushed out by police before he had a chance to make good his escape.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Troops of the 29th Division, Maryland National Guard, will pass in review Saturday night for Maj. Gen. William G. Purnell, their commander, who is retiring after 21 years of Guard service.

Earlier, Gen. Purnell and other 29th officers will be guests at a dinner at 5th Regiment Armory here at which Gov. Tawes will be the host. A reception will follow the ceremonies hosted by Lt. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two firemen collapsed of smoke inhalation Thursday while fighting a flash fire at the Louis Hotel here.

The flames, which shot through the top of the four-story hotel, routed 28 occupants of the building, although patrons in a first-floor restaurant, remained in the building. Officials said the fire was confined to four rooms on the top floor.

FERNDALE, Md. (AP) — Anne Arundel County Police arrested 35 persons Thursday night in what they described as a raid on a teen-age drinking party in Greenhaven.

Police said some 75 to 100 teenagers attended the party, including two 13-year-old girls. Police charged 17 of those arrested with illegal possession of alcohol. Five others were charged as juvenile delinquents. Police said they could not determine who owned the summer home where the party was being held or who sponsored it.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago met Friday in Baltimore for a send-off luncheon.

Some 26 Maryland 4-H members, 14 girls and 12, boys will attend the week-long convention in Chicago.

An estimated 1,500 young persons from the United States and a dozen foreign countries will attend the meeting.

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — The new Republican commissioners of Howard County say there will be no wholesale dismissal of county employes when the new board takes office next month.

However, the commissioners said there will be extensive study of the offices and agencies of the county government.

The statement was issued after Frederick Ford, chief of police, announced he planned to tender his resignation to let the board take whatever action it desires.

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Blair O. Rumsey is the oldest student enrolled at Shephard College. He is 72 years old.

Rumsey, who is enrolled in the philosophy department, says attending classes "has kept me from wilting away."

Two Gunmen Get $4,000 In Robbery

Maryland Car Is Abandoned

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP) — Two gunmen held up the Seven Corners branch of the Arlington-Fairfax Savings & Loan Association Friday and fled with an estimated $4,000 to $5,000 in cash.

One of the robbers, believed to be the same man who held up the same office on July 31, announced as he entered Friday:

"Well, here we are."

While one man held the four employes and a customer at pistol point, the other rifled three cash drawers and took a locked, metal cash box.

Before leaving, the men ordered the employes and customer to lie on the floor.

Police said the men escaped in a car with Maryland license plates and that the car was found abandoned later a short distance away in the Seven Corners parking lot.

William N. Ball, Vienna, manager of the office, and Mrs. Alice Sheloski, 23, a teller, said they believe one of the men is the same person who held up the office in July and got away with $1,980.

Man Charged With Bigamy

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Byron D. Weems, 28, was held for the grand jury Friday on a bigamy charge of marrying his Army commander's daughter without having divorced two other wives.

Weems was returned here from his home in Delavan, Ill., a suburb of Springfield, to face the charge. Magistrate John F. Hollyday held him on $2,500 bail.

Weems married Nancy Ann Leary in Hagerstown July 11. He had been discharged from the Army a few days before at Carlisle, Pa. Maj. Alexander Leary was his commander.

Detective Lt. Grayson Wigfield testified Weems also had been married to a nurse in Illinois and a WAC private at Ft. Meade, Md. The detective said Weems produced copies of divorce papers from them, but that they were forged and fraudulent.

Detective Grayson said Weems married Sharon Pourenke at East Peoria, Ill., on March 27, 1961, and Joan Seymour, the WAC private, on May 25, 1962.

He said Weems left his third wife three days after their wedding and returned to Illinois where he is an accountant.

Area Apple Harvest Tonnage Off 20 Per Cent

One of the ten largest shippers of apples in this country, Consolidated Distributing, Inc., of Paw Paw, reports that its tonnage for the 1962 apple crop was off 20 per cent.

Henry W. Miller, president of Consolidated, reported that the drop was due to two major factors — severe hail damage in one of its Allegany County orchards and drought in the West Virginia orchards.

He pointed out that in August a severe hail storm struck the Irons Mountain orchards of Consolidated Orchard Company, causing considerable damage.

Orchard workers then went through the stricken area, picking off the damaged apples and thinning the trees out.

Then during the period when apples needed moisture for proper sizing, a dry spell hit the West Virginia orchards in Morgan and Hampshire counties.

While the tonnage is off, the market is holding up very well, especially the foreign trade to South America and Europe.

Miller explained that fruit from Allegany, Morgan and Hampshire counties is shipped through the merchandising firm, Consolidated Distributors, Inc. This company handles apples from Consolidated Orchards Company and Romney Orchards Company.

Mountain Fruit Sales Inc., apple and peach growers cooperative in Hampshire County, said that generally there was a good crop in terms of quality.

There were exceptions, R. L. Sumner, manager, reported, such as one large orchard where hail played havoc in the early part of the growing stages.

If it were not for the dry spell during one period of the growing period, he pointed out, Hampshire County would have had a bumper apple crop.

Again there were exceptions, such as Red Staymans and Red Delicious which in many spots reached jumbo size.

For the most part, the reduction in size due to the dry period has resulted in a condition where it takes about 125 apples to fill a bushel, where it formerly took 100 apples, Sumner said.

The West Virginia Crop Reporting Service reported that the commercial apple harvest in the state was 5,000,000 bushels off one-half million from the 1961 harvest.

However, the present figure is higher than a ten-year average of 4,773,000 bushels.

Most growers completed their harvests by November 10, earlier than last year, but normal.

Scouts Approved For Advancement

Two Boy Scouts and one Explorer Scout of Potomac Council, Boys Scouts of America, were recently approved for advancement to Eagle scout, the highest rank in scouting, according to John L. Towler, council advancement chairman.

Those approved were Thomas Malcolm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Malcolm, McCoole, Troop 38, Queens Point Memorial Post 6775 VFW; Dwayne Schinzing, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. Schinzing, Petersburg, Troop 63, Petersburg Kiwanis Club; and Robert Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker, Frostburg, Post 52, First United Presbyterian Church.

Join CUF Family

These employes of Miracle Mart Discount Department Store are among the 80 employes of the area's new business concern to join the County United Fund Classified Division for employe groups. Pictured, left to right, are Mrs. Geraldine Smith, Mrs. Thelma Mullen, Miss Charlotte Hiser, Miss Rita Lewis, James Bowser, manager; Thomas Ruehl, domestics department manager; and Norman Simmons, assistant manager. Employes indicated they would achieve 100 per cent participation in CUF.

Miracle Mart Employes Join United Fund Family

A new team was added to the Classified Division of the sixth and mightiest County United Fund with the announcement by Miracle Mart Discount Department Store, National Highway, that its employes have joined the 30-agency health, social service and youth cause in Allegany and Mineral counties.

James Bowser, recently transferred here from Reading, Pa., as manager of the new discount department store, is happy that the employes of Miracle Mart are going to do their share for the less fortunate residents of the two counties.

"Our company is gratified, too, that it can help the community in which it does business through this worthwhile United Fund effort," Mr. Bowser said.

He added that it is the policy of other Miracle Mart-operated stores to support United Fund appeals. He pointed out that the firm's store in Johnstown, where he started his career in 1960, was a United Fund supporter.

The Miracle Mart store in LaVale employs about 80 persons, and Mr. Bowser anticipated that Miracle Mart employes would mark up 100 per cent participation in CUF.

John E. Geare and C. M. Sanner, co-chairmen of the Cumberland area Classified Division, welcomed Miracle Mart employes into the CUF family and agreed that Miracle Mart is "another fine example of how employes of a new business in the area can help underprivileged residents in the community in which it operates."

Miracle Mart employes are the newest members of the County United Fund family, which has been growing each year with the addition of new business concerns within Allegany and Mineral counties.

Mr. Geare and Mr. Sanner related the response to the CUF appeal by Miracle Mart employes to the over-all enthusiastic reception given CUF employe groups throughout Mineral and Allegany counties.

"It is always gratifying," Mr. Sanner said, "to witness such area-wide enthusiasm by employes, who, after all, form the backbone of a true United effort."

Phi Rho Chapter, BSP Plans December Events

Events for December were planned by members of the Phi Rho Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Saralyn Snelson Grandstaff, Midland.

The chapter planned a jingle party in conjunction with the December 5 meeting. It will be at the home of Miss Judith Hoenicka, 516 Avondale Avenue. Progressive Christmas caroling also was discussed, to be held in the Cumberland vicinity, December 18. The members are to go from their homes in the Cumberland area.

A campaign to sell candy was launched. It is to raise funds for the year's projects. Orders will be taken if persons call Miss Kay Beeman, OV 9-9496. If possible they are asked to call before November 30.

Action was taken to give Mrs. Dorothy Appel, a member-at-large status with Phi Rho, effective December 1.

The chapter completed plans to furnish relish trays for the annual inter-chapter buffet dinner, which will be held November 29 at St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Frederick Street.

Miss Bonnie Keller presented the cultural program for the evening. It was entitled "What would I like to change in myself?"

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served. Others attending were Miss Marjory Cutshall, Miss Bonnie Keller, Miss Janet Nelson, Mrs. Karen Rizer, Miss Linda Weibrecht and Miss Beeman.

The American Home and Art groups of the Woman's Civic Club will meet jointly November 29 at the club house at 1:30 p. m.

A program, "A Peek at Christmas" will be presented by the American Home group, with Mrs. Kenneth Lowe and Mrs. Howard Brady chairmen. It will give suggestions and show ways of decorating for the holidays.

Concluding the afternoon a tea will be held by the Art Group, with Mrs. Arthur Fuller and Mrs. John Brenneman chairmen.

Club Hears Talks

A talk on Western Maryland and the Potomac River was given by Joseph Minke, regional game warden; and one on Home-School Week, by Rev. Richard Mitchell featured the program at the meeting of the St. Mary's Parents Club.

The Christmas party was discussed and Mrs. Bernard Gehauf was named chairman, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Hovatter, Mrs. Harold Rice and Mrs. Jay Catlett. Reports were given by Mrs. Albert Brant, Mrs. Thomas Carroll and Nicholas Perlozzo.

Society Sponsors Discussion

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Allegany County Medical Society presented a program Tuesday before an audience at the Central Elementary School in Lonaconing. The program was entitled, "Changing Trends in Medicine." It led to a discussion of current medical problems in the community.

Those who participated represented not only the medical profession, but its allied professions of dentistry and pharmacy, as well as a presentation of the role of the modern hospital in today's treatment of patients.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For 10 years I was married to a man who drank bourbon out of cough syrup bottles, lied a blue streak, and even took money out of my purse. I divorced him in 1958 when I discovered he was giving my clothes to his girl friend.

Our children are now 9 and 7 years of age. He didn't support them when we were married and he doesn't send them anything now. I'm not complaining — just relieved that I no longer have to support him.

My wonderful mother makes her home with us now and we're never been happier or more solvent. I had not heard one word from my former husband until last week. He telephoned (collect) to say he's living in a rented room — sick and broke. He asked me to bring the children to see him.

My lawyer says he has no rights whatever and to stay away from him. My mother says it is morally wrong to keep a man from seeing his children, regardless of how rotten he may have been. What do you say?

FERN

DEAR FERN: If it took this guy four years to get lonesome for his children he must be a darb. Take your lawyer's advice. You need this man back in your life like Miami needs another hurricane.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Thanks for your column. You have shown you can take constructive criticism, so here goes.

Your reply to "Miffed," in my opinion was incorrect. You said it was "cheap" of the guest to send a bill to replace the hosiery torn by her pet cat. A person is legally liable for damage or injury inflicted by their pets, whether it is $2 or several thousand dollars.

From the records: Cat takes nap in rear seat of guest's car. Driver did not know cat was there. At a busy intersection cat jumps on back of driver. result — serious collision. Owner of cat liable.

Cat runs in path of elderly woman, causing her to fall. Result — broken hip. Owner of cat responsible.

I know you strive to make your column accurate as well as entertaining, so please print this letter to set the record straight. — LA READER

DEAR READER: Thank you for helping me keep the column "accurate as well as entertaining." I'm glad you wrote.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My fiance and I were engaged in September. We plan to be married in the Spring. We want to give Christmas gifts to relatives and friends and sign the card jointly. Is this considered incorrect? Thank you in advance for your answer. — HIM AND HER.

DEAR HIM AND HER: Sorry, it is not considered proper for engaged people to send a gift "jointly." He should send something of his own, and so should you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter has become obsessed with the idea of having her nose remodeled. She is 17, a fine student, and normally a sensible girl.

Please believe me there is nothing wrong with Bessie's nose. It goes with her face. I've tried to point out to her that some of the most famous and successful people in history have had prominent features. Their faces had character and impact. People remembered them.

Four girls in Bessie's crowd have had their noses done. This is where she got the idea. All their noses look like they came out of the same mold. I'm afraid the operation would destroy her individuality. What do you say?—

Q. T.

DEAR Q. T.: It's not what I say, or what you think that counts. It's how Bessie feels that matters.

If she is wildly eager, give her your blessings. The new nose may make her look less individual, but it could do wonders for her morale.

To learn how to keep a boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with you request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Time was when it took a month for a letter to get from one city to another, and such things as radio and television were unheard of.

Now we don't think in terms of miles — we think in terms of the time it takes to span them, and it doesn't take long to get around the world.

As for communications — well, they're instantaneous, these days.

But for all of that, we seem to find it just as hard to understand one another as we ever did.

Only one form of communication hasn't changed . . . God's method of communication. He speaks to you through His Church, and through a Bible that has survived the centuries. Go to church this Sunday, every Sunday, and hear His message for yourself.

Old Sentiments Reflected In Christmas Cards For '62

By MARGARET RICHARDS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Don't look for spaceships on your Christmas cards.

This year's newest Christmas cards reflect the oldest sentiments. Santa still rules the skies — and the cards show it.

Americans like the new look in nearly every area of their lives from hemlines to fenders, but when it comes to Christmas, greeting card makers don't dare switch signals.

"Our job is to give a new design flavor to the old holiday symbols," says Mrs. Jeannette Lee, art director for a card manufacturer (Hallmark).

"It seems that the faster our modern world changes, the more people cherish the traditional in Christmas art."

To bring past and present together, the card makers apply a new design technique to familiar scenes. Typical this year are three-dimensional outdoor vistas.

The scenes are applied to multiple layers of a thin, transparent material. When the scenes are pulled down, the viewer sees a miniature snow-laden forest in which two tiny deer are grazing.

Santa, with his shiny black boots and fur-trimmed coat, remains the most popular Christmas symbol, Mrs. Lee said. But fast growing are religious cards. A survey of 600 new Christmas designs shows one out of six carries a religious motif. Scenes of the Nativity predominate. Madonnas, the wise men, and cherubs are also favorite religious depictions.

Representative of the trend toward the traditional are new greetings, based on the Victorian filagree that enchanted our grandparents. Oval satin sachet pillows are framed in lacy patterns of gold foil. Poinsettias, Christmas ornaments and trees decorate the pillows.

The continued popularity of heirloom cards also reflects a nostalgic look backward. Borrowing from the intricate design of European "mechanical" cards of the last century, the cards open to reveal a group of children singing carols, or a family scene in an old-fashioned kitchen with father trimming the tree and mother setting the table, or a group of cherubic angels attending the Christ Child.

One unusual greeting and something that can be kept permanently on the library table or among treasured possessions is a red leather book of Christmas poetry. It is decorated with a golf Florentine design and lettering of stamped golf foil.

St. Christopher Story In Panels

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The story of St. Christopher, symbolizing man's search for God, is portrayed in an unusual relief on two panels at the front of St. Christopher's Church here.

Between the panels, each of which is 40 feet high and 12 feet wide, is a stained glass shaft of bapistry windows. The relief was done by William Thompson, member of the Fine and Applied Arts Department faculty at Ohio State University.

A scale model first was carved in plaster, then cut by the artist in Indiana limestone. At night, the constant changing of light patterns heightens its beauty.

Old Sentiments Reflected In Christmas Cards For '62

By MARGARET RICHARDS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Don't look for spaceships on your Christmas cards.

This year's newest Christmas cards reflect the oldest sentiments. Santa still rules the skies — and the cards show it.

Americans like the new look in nearly every area of their lives from hemlines to fenders, but when it comes to Christmas, greeting card makers don't dare switch signals.

"Our job is to give a new design flavor to the old holiday symbols," says Mrs. Jeannette Lee, art director for a card manufacturer (Hallmark).

"It seems that the faster our modern world changes, the more people cherish the traditional in Christmas art."

To bring past and present together, the card makers apply a new design technique to familiar scenes. Typical this year are three-dimensional outdoor vistas.

The scenes are applied to multiple layers of a thin, transparent material. When the scenes are pulled down, the viewer sees a miniature snow-laden forest in which two tiny deer are grazing.

Santa, with his shiny black boots and fur-trimmed coat, remains the most popular Christmas symbol, Mrs. Lee said. But fast growing are religious cards. A survey of 600 new Christmas designs shows one out of six carries a religious motif. Scenes of the Nativity predominate. Madonnas, the wise men, and cherubs are also favorite religious depictions.

Representative of the trend toward the traditional are new greetings, based on the Victorian filagree that enchanted our grandparents. Oval satin sachet pillows are framed in lacy patterns of gold foil. Poinsettias, Christmas ornaments and trees decorate the pillows.

The continued popularity of heirloom cards also reflects a nostalgic look backward. Borrowing from the intricate design of European "mechanical" cards of the last century, the cards open to reveal a group of children singing carols, or a family scene in an old-fashioned kitchen with father trimming the tree and mother setting the table, or a group of cherubic angels attending the Christ Child.

One unusual greeting and something that can be kept permanently on the library table or among treasured possessions is a red leather book of Christmas poetry. It is decorated with a golf Florentine design and lettering of stamped golf foil.

St. Christopher Story In Panels

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The story of St. Christopher, symbolizing man's search for God, is portrayed in an unusual relief on two panels at the front of St. Christopher's Church here.

Between the panels, each of which is 40 feet high and 12 feet wide, is a stained glass shaft of bapistry windows. The relief was done by William Thompson, member of the Fine and Applied Arts Department faculty at Ohio State University.

A scale model first was carved in plaster, then cut by the artist in Indiana limestone. At night, the constant changing of light patterns heightens its beauty.

Archbishop Swint Dies Of Heart Attack

Was Native Of Randolph County

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — Archbishop John Joseph Swint, 82-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church in West Virginia, died unexpectedly of a heart attack here Friday.

Swint had served as bishop of the Diocese of Wheeling since 1922, and had been given the personal title of archbishop in 1954.

The archbishop, who died Friday night, was one of a family of nine children. Three of the four girls in the family became nuns. Of the brothers, one was a doctor, another a lawyer and two were contractors.

His successor as bishop will be co-adjutor Bishop Joseph Hodges, who was named to that post about a year ago with the right of succession.

Hodges is presently in Rome for the Ecumenical Council, but is expected to return to Wheeling for the funeral.

Swint was born in Pickens, Randolph County, in 1879 and was trained for the priesthood at St. Charles College in Ellicott City, Md., St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore and the Apostolic Mission House in Washington where he was ordained on June 23, 1904.

He also served as pastor at churches in Hinton, Beckley and Weston before getting the call to come to Wheeling as auxiliary to bishop Patrick J. Donahue. He was consecrated bishop in 1922 and became head of the ciocese upon Donahue's death later that year.

His diocese included all of West Virginia except the Eastern Panhandle, plus a portion of the extreme western part of the state of Virginia.

Shortly after his appointment as bishop, Swint began a new building program designed to establish new churches, hospitals and schools, throughout the Diocese.

One of his first projects was the construction of St. Joseph's Cathedral which was consecrated on April 21, 1926.

He lent his labors to the expansion of Wheeling Hospital, and the construction of a new nurses home, the rebuilding of St. Mary's hospital in Clarksburg, construction of a hospital and nurse's home in Parkersburg, the establishment of St. Mary's hospital in Huntington and many other projects.

Three new Catholic high schools —at McMechen, Weirton and Follansbee — were built under his direction.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. Bishop Swint is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Cannon, Pickens, Randolph County, and Sister Mary Agnes Swint of the Mount DeChantal Visitation Convent in Wheeling.

Thomas Jefferson was the first American president to serve ice cream at White House dinner parties.

Fire Company Financing To Be Discussed

Carnival Ordinance Vote Is Delayed

WESTERNPORT — A large delegation of members of Potomac Fire Company met with Mayor and Commissioners this week to protest the letter from the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association which was published in the Piedmont Herald on November 8.

Russell McRobie was spokesman for the 31 men attending the meeting.

The letter highly commended the volunteer fire fighters for their efficient, unselfish service to the community and then went on to criticize the group for the alleged tactics and methods of raising money for their needs.

Constructive suggestions for this purpose were also outlined, including a fire tax.

McRobie stated that unless a public retraction is made by the Ministerial Association, the members are ready to resign and asked town officials to intercede for them and call a meeting Monday to talk over the subjects of contention.

Plans were made yesterday for the Mayor and Council to meet in the council chamber Monday at 7:30 p. m. with the association and the fire company.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt said he hopes this may serve as an opening wedge to get public support for the fire company by some means that would be approved by citizens of the community.

The first reading of Ordinance No. 2, banning carnivals and circuses from performing within the corporate limits, met with unanimous approval of the officials.

The proposed ordinance included a provision that any club, church, or social, civic or fraternal orgonization may apply for a permit, to be issued at the discretion of Mayor and Commissioners, to hold a street festival, carnival or bazaar, consisting only of rides, booths and games locally sponsored and operated with local personnel.

Following the published announcement of the first reading, members of the fire company presented a petition to the town officials, protesting the proposed ordinance, on the grounds that carnivals are their chief source of income.

The council then voted to delay the second reading of the ordinance until February 1, 1963.

The local concern will interview two other concerns Monday and Tuesday nights in City Hall, and then choose one of the three to conduct a survey for Frostburg.

The city planning process is one that coordinates the future growth of the city with various elements. A master plan is prepared which will govern all future growth of Frostburg and will include: Physical—land use, street patterns and utilities; social—population growth and parks recreation; economics—job possibilities and factories; legal—preparing ordinances and coordinating the city planning with the county and state, and fiscal—how to finance.

Coal Miners Leave Jobs

WELCH, W. Va. (UPI) — Workers at several small coal mines in McDowell County left their jobs Friday and began picketing in protest of the operators failure to pay royalties to the United Mine Workers Health and Welfare Fund which resulted in a cut in benefits.

Raymond Lewis, Charleston, head of District 17 of the UMW said the benefits were cut off because "some of the operators either falsified or failed to pay contractual commitments."

The operators contended they cannot afford the 40-cents-a-ton royalty and remain in business.

Student Council Of Bruce High Holds Workshop

WESTERNPORT — The Student Council of Bruce High School recently held its third workshop at which time leaders were acquainted with the plans and objectives of the council.

The second group, "Problems and Projects," had Mrs. Elizabeth Daugherty as consultant with Sharon Pattison as recorder and Paul Mullan as discussion leader.

Blair-Bedford Scout Finance Drive Begins

BEDFORD, Pa. — G. William Ward, chairman, 1962 operating fund finance campaign, Blair-Bedford Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced that the Leadership Gift section of the drive has gone over the top on a quota of $5,500. Some cards are still outstanding so this total should go considerably higher.

This finance campaign is conducted annually in all communities of the two county area that do not participate in a Community Chest or United Fund effort. The money received is used for operating expenses of the council, so Scouting will and can be made available to more boys.

The Special Gifts and General Solicitation sections of the drive have quotas of $5,000 and $6,000 respectively. Hundreds of volunteer workers in the two county area are in the process of making their calls in these two divisions.

"It is gratifying," said Mr. Ward, "to see our finance campaign moving toward a successful completion. The quotas are realistic and the financial aid is urgently needed to provide a full program of Scouting for the boys in Blair and Bedford counties.

Keyser Accepts Sewage Plant Planning Funds

KEYSER — The Mayor and Council this week took action toward a sewage disposal system by accepting a temporary advance from the Housing and Home Finance Agency of $17,200 to cover cost of design and planning for such a system which is being required by the state.

The city authorized Morris Knowles to proceed with an application for a 50 per cent federal grant for construction.

Charles W. Smith, city attorney, explained this is 25 per cent more than the original authorized grant. It was stated, according to an estimate, that such grants will save the city approximately $250,000 in this project.

The council session was Paul D. Peter's first regular meeting as acting mayor since he took over for Richard E. Romig two weeks ago. Romig left the post as he had moved his residence outside the corporate limits.

Police Chief Ralph Marsh requested that two meters be removed from the north side of Armstrong Street in the vicinity of the Army-Navy store so a truck loading and unloading zone could be set up. He explained trucks are double-parking and snarling traffic in that area. He said his department received a number of complaints.

Council discussed the suggestion and then tabled the matter until the December 4 meeting.

Council authorized the placing of two meters on Armstrong Street beside the former Esso station, the places being vacant to allow access to the station during its operation.

The Keyser Television Company applied for a building permit to construct a block 30 by 35 foot one-story garage on the rear of its location at 51 North Main Street. Approximate cost is $2,000. Trucks and equipment will be stored there.

R. E. Monroe, of Janes Methodist Church, opened the meeting with a prayer.

Tri-Towns CUF Campaign Reaches 66.4% Of Goal

PIEDMONT — The Tri-Towns sixth County United Fund campagn has reached 66.4 per cent of its goal, according to figures compiled in the third official audit of campaign results.

With one more campaign audit scheduled, William M. Thompson, general Tri-Towns chairman, urged workers in the 30-agency fund drive to "leave no stone unturned" in their efforts to swell the current results total.

Tri-Towns contributors to the Big Givers' Organization, to which participating agencies in Mineral County and Allegany County look so that health, social service and youth needs can be met, have given CUF $10,957.31 to date.

This figure represents 66.4 per cent of the $16,500 goal.

The Golden Gifts division has been carrying the brunt of the Tri-Towns goal and has achieved 80.4 per cent of its mark with a contribution of $9,649.31.

Deficits With Or Without Wars

When the Cuban crisis first erupted the administration's previously promised tax cut was considered out of the question. Then the crisis simmered down somewhat and tax cut talk was revived.

The Secretary of the Treasury and various other officials said a tax cut may be needed to stimulate the economy. Some really let go, predicting reductions as high as $15 billion.

When war seems imminent, the official view is that the government needs every dime of available revenue to hold borrowing to a minimum. Thus the inflationary effects of war would be slowed by paying the added costs out of current income insofar as possible.

But certainly the government doesn't need a war in order to run up deficits. With rare exceptions it has been on a deficit financing basis for more than 30 years.

Thus it isn't apparent why a tax cut should be deemed less hazardous when a war threat is, mistakenly or otherwise, presumed to have abated. The government still is running whopping deficits.

With the coming of $100 billion budgets the indications are that the deficits of the future may become even more impressive than some of the deficits of the World War II era.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

What's Wrong?

The new laws come piling in. I am now up to Public Law 87-884. It all takes time and Congress seems to meet forever.

This is a matter that stirs men's souls. The Golden Eagle may become extinct. The Bald Eagle is in danger of disappearing from the face of the Earth. The Bald Eagle is the symbol of our country. If the Golden Eagle goes, the Bald Eagle will go and the rodents will eat the crops. So Congress has to pass a law.

It could, of course, be done more simply. The Secretary of the Interior could issue a proclamation in defense of the Golden and Bald Eagles and all other birds that eat products, but then that would simplify matters and send the Representatives home to talk to their constituents to find out about Cuba and taxes and such matters. Instead, Congress must pass every kind of act and perhaps have a speech or two on the subject.

Just think of the mental effort that goes into a paragraph like:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the first two sections of the Act of June 8, 1940 (54 Stat. 250, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 668, 668A), are hereby amended to read as follows: 'Whoever, within the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof, without being permitted to do so as hereinafter provided, shall take, possess, sell, purchase, barter, offer to sell, purchase or barter, transport, export or import, at any time or in any manner, any bald eagle commonly known as the American eagle, or any golden eagle, alive or dead, or any part, nest, or egg thereof of the foregoing eagles, shall be fined not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both: Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit possession or transportation of any bald eagle, alive or dead, or any part, nest, or egg thereof, lawfully taken prior to June 8, 1940, and that nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit possession or transportation of any golden eagle, alive or dead, or any part, nest, or egg thereof, lawfully taken prior to the addition to this Act of the provisions relating to preservation of the golden eagle.'"

Suppose it were all made easy by saying that anybody caught with one of these birds, dead or alive, would be fined $500 or put in jail for six months, and it was all just a proclamation by the Secretary of the Interior. That would give somebody in the Interior Department something useful to do, chasing eagle-shooters, while Congress debated on how to save our gold.

Every year, we watch the Representatives and Senators hanging around Washington waiting for the nod to vote aye or nay for a bill. Then comes around election time and they want to go home to talk to the constituents. But no! That is when the worthy Senators and Representatives get loaded down with all kinds of bills, including important ones, and they are so anxious to go home to see the voters that they just can't be bothered reading the bills or debating them.

Of course, sometimes somebody like De Gaulle comes along and upsets the normal manoeuvres of the politicians. He goes straight to the people and gets them to vote the usual and permanent politicians out of office. In their place, he puts himself and calls it democracy, and the people cheer. So De Gaulle has his way. He has, in effect, revolutionized the French political system and we have to watch to see how long it takes to revolutionize it back to what it used to be. Actually, De Gaulle has made less of the National Assembly and more of the Presidency, which our Presidents have been doing for many years.

Nevertheless, as we are a romantic people, we have to give the Representatives and Senators much to do, so that they will not have time enough to do any very tough investigating. For instance, why does no committee of Congress investigate the Fourth Floor of the State Department to discover why those who put Castro on the Cuban throne are still employed by the American government?

Of course, if it is so important to spend time passing legislation about the Golden and the Bald Eagles, how can anyone expect them to have time to go into the Cuban questions in depth?

FDA Still Has No Administrator To Enforce New Drug Measure

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Kennedy administration, after focusing much attention on deformed-baby drugs, has been dragging its feet regarding the appointment of a doctor who would prevent similar drugs from reaching the market.

The doctor needed is to direct the Bureau of Medicine in the Food and Drug Administration with the job of preventing eager-beaver drug companies from pushing drugs out to doctors until they are sufficiently tested. It was in this agency that Dr. Frances Kelsey fought against the use of thalidomide, a sleeping pill which has caused thousands of deformed babies.

On August 6, Dr. William Kessenich, director of the Bureau of Medicine, resigned. Ever since last year, when he gave notice of his intended resignation, the Food and Drug Administration has been on notice to get a new man, and in March, Director George Larrick recommended Dr. Charles May, professor of pediatrics at New York University Medical Center and a member of the AMA's Council on Drugs.

Dr. May was editor of the medical journal "Pediatrics" until he testified before the Kefauver committee and wrote an illuminating article on "Selling Drugs by 'Educating' Physicians" which referred to the practice of some drug companies of giving drugs to doctors and asking them to experiment on their patients.

Since then Dr. May has not exactly been the darling of the drug industry. But in no sense has this impaired his qualifications to be a policeman for the public. However, seven months have dragged by and there has been no action on Commissioner Larrick's recommendation.

Hot And Cold Drugs

The Kennedy administration has blown hot and cold on the question of safe drugs.

When Sen. Estes Kefauver, D., Tenn., was trying to pass a drug bill with teeth in it, the White House sent a message to Congress which helped cut the heart out of his bill. In fact, the bill would have died had it not been for the publicity focused on thalidomide by Dr. Frances Kelsey, plus the dramatic flight of TV commentator Sherri Finkbine to Sweden for a legal abortion.

After this, the Kennedy administration reversed itself, gave an award to Dr. Kelsey, and got behind the Kefauver drug bill. It did not, however, back one of the bill's most important provisions—bitterly fought by the drug industry—the release of patents to other drug firms at a nominal royalty after a certain period of exclusive use.

All-in-all, however, the Kefauver drug bill is the strongest ever passed by Congress. The chief thing now needed is a director of the Bureau of Medicine to help administer it.

Your Post Office

The other day I went up to Media, Pa., near which in my youth I used to trap skunks, and listened to the dedication ceremony of the new Post Office by Tyler Abell, special assistant to the Postmaster General. Here are some things I never knew before about the post office: Up until July 1, 1847, there were no postage stamps. Mail was sent C.O.D.—except for franked mail. . . . Benjamin Franklin who served as Postmaster General for the Colonies under King George III used to sign franked mail "Free—B. Franklin." Later as the revolt against George III warmed up, the Postmaster General changed his signature to "B. Free Franklin." King George couldn't stomach this and fired him. But after independence, Franklin became the first Postmaster General of the United States.

When the Post Office decided to issue the now famous Dag Hammarskjold stamp, all kinds of complaints were received, some calling Dag a Communist. One letter warned: "When Dag Hammarskjold's body was found, there was discovered in his shirt front a playing card, specifically the ace of spades. This proves that Dag Hammarskjold had been cheating at cards, and it would be disgraceful to issue a commemorative stamp for someone who cheats at cards."

The Postmaster General receives 100 letters a day from Congressmen complaining, on behalf of constituents, about one thing or another, ranging from pleas for new Post Offices to requests that Mr. and Mrs. John Doe be permitted to move their mailbox to the other side of the road. Despite complaints, however, the Postal Service is handling more mail with less proportionate personnel and more efficiency. . . . Today it has 587,000 employes and they handle 67,000,000,000 pieces of mail to 187,000,000 people. That is 13 times as much mail as handled in 1890, yet the number of employes has increased only six times. . . . In 1911 the gross receipts handled by the Media, Pa., Post Office were $1,180 per postal employe; in 1961 $5,400 per postal employe. . . . In the entire government in 1953, there were 16 federal employes for every 1,000 people in the U.S.A. In 1961 the figure was only 13. . . . In brief, government is not getting larger and less efficient; it is getting more efficient, and the population of federal employes is growing at a proportionately slower rate than the population of the nation.

That's quite a score for bureaucracy.

Will India Become Aligned With United States?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The United States is getting ready to help India in her war with Red China. Military supplies and perhaps technical advisers will be sent to aid Indian military forces. Great Britain is doing the same.

This is a development of far-reaching importance in America's relations with the Far East.

For it means that at last the United States and the West will have a leverage as against Red China and cause the Communists to hesitate before attacking Formosa or the people of any other area in the Western Pacific now allied with this country.

It is, therefore, to the military advantage of the United States to assist India. Also, India's request for assistance from America is, in effect, the beginning of military alliance.

Conceivably, if India becomes a real military power and is definitely aligned against Red China, the day may come when the Chinese in Tibet will feel encouraged to take the risks of a revolt against the Communist regime in Peiping.

Certainly the whole Southeast Asia situation will be affected favorably for the United States if there is a definite military tie-up between America and India. This becomes a potential force in diplomacy and can achieve a kind of balance of power which could postpone indefinitely, if not avert, a big war between Red China and the West.

It is important, too, to note that Pandit Nehru seems to have learned a lesson which should be taken to heart by other so-called "neutrals" of the world. It is that, when the chips are down, little help of substance can be expected from the Soviet Union. For a long time now Mr. Nehru has played ball with Moscow. Perhaps much of this can be blamed on Krishna Menon, who seems to have swallowed the Communist line for many years. He finally was forced out of the position of Minister of Defense and then out of the Cabinet altogether by the realists inside India who couldn't tolerate his double-dealing.

With Krishna Menon out of the picture, the patriotic leaders of India might influence Mr. Nehru to become a full-fledged partner of the West, particularly the United States. India over the next 25 years will need economic help for her huge population, but she can make no progress in a sociological or industrial way unless her military position is secure. If the United States is able to accomplish this for her, the future of India's relationships with this country will be on a firm basis.

The Indian government itself, however, is not without fault. Its dispute with Pakistan over the Kashmir territory is illogical and unjustified. The people of Kashmir are Moslems and, if it were left to a vote, they would go to Pakistan. India has refused to negotiate. This is a mistake.

Likewise, Mr. Nehru made a blunder in the way he handled the Goa question. Here was a province that had belonged to Portugal for centuries. There were many ways to settle the dispute equitably, but these were disregarded by him and an act of aggression was substituted. This lost India lots of friends in the outside world. For Mr. Nehru had been the leading champion of the formula of settling international disputes by mediation and other peaceful methods.

Now the future of India herself is at stake. An act of aggression has been committed by Red China. India has already lost a valuable part of her territory. It is a paradox to read news reports from New Delhi stating that, in spite of what has happened, Mr. Nehru still favors the admission of Red China into the United Nations. Yet it was a similar act of aggression by Red China in North Korea in 1950 against U. N. forces which prompted the passing of a resolution by the General Assembly which condemned Red China as an aggressor. This has been the main reason why the United States has held out firmly ever since against rewarding an aggressor with membership in the United Nations.

If there's a more enlightened attitude by India in the field of international affairs and if Red China is outlawed at last in New Delhi because of the latest acts of aggression, then the way is opened for a mutually helpful relationship between the United States and India. It may prove costly in money to this country, but it is a military maneuver of vast importance to the United States. It could be the means of saving many American boys from another Korean-type war in Asia.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NEXT CONGRESS—Behind the show of political unity on Cuba, there are some members of Congress in high places who privately believe that the Republican Party was backed into a corner on a legitimate, and to them potentially winning, issue in the recent elections. There is little they can do about it now, but they'll remember it. There will be less cooperation with the President among Republicans on Capitol Hill. The elections have served to polarize the two political parties into postures of firmer opposition to each other.

This will be reflected in sharper debate on foreign policy issues, an eagerness on the part of the opposition to block President Kennedy's requests for foreign aid funds. It will be reflected in domestic issues as well, with greater anxiety to stop the New Frontier in its tracks, or at least arouse public sentiment against its principles.

President Kennedy, with his background of legislative experience, fared well personally with both parties during the 87th Congress. It will be far different in the 88th.

LIFE GOES ON—Despite heavy preoccupation with the Cuban crisis, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges is perfecting plans for a 'round-the-world trip billed as an effort to stimulate our commerce with foreign countries. Most of Hodges' itinerary is concentrated in the Asiatic area, carrying him down to Australia and New Zealand.

Because it's in the vicinity, he's giving serious consideration to making a side-trip to Antarctica. It's a little bit hard for his staff to talk about this part of the tour, because inevitably they're asked if he's planning to sell ice-boxes to Eskimos.

Then, they've got to explain that Eskimos live in the extreme northern regions and that there are no native inhabitants at the South Pole. Which in turn draws the question: Then, what is he going to try to sell to whom?

Ignorance Is Golden

By John Crosby

PARIS

"It's great to live in a country where you don't understand the language," Richard Condon, the man who wrote "The Manchurian Candidate" and other figments of the imagination, said to me the other day. Well, we all know that's heresy, don't we? The first thing the man abroad is supposed to do is learn the language, mingle with the natives, and find out what they think.

But the trouble with all that, according to Condon, is that you find out what they think. And you wish you hadn't.

"You sit behind an emotional woman in the bus. Her lamentations fill the air. You think, my God, her husband has left her, her daughter has run off with Elvis Presley, or some other catastrophe has occurred. You know what she's saying? She's saying: 'If that butcher sticks me once more with that lousy lamb of his, I'm going to give him a piece of my mind'."

That is probably true. I am an incurable romantic and my own speculations about what's being discussed in public conveyances, particularly French subways, is pretty high-level imagining. French is a conspiratorial language and Frenchmen, especially, speak it with a great darting about of the eyes. I watch a couple of Frenchmen in the subway, their eyeballs rolling about, emitting little exclamations and French r's. "They're plotting to shoot de Gaulle again," I think. (Somebody's always doing that here. They always miss).

Actually what they're saying is: "They used to keep the Metro cleaner under Mendes-France."

If it's a man and woman seated together on a subway or any public conveyance, talking a language I can't understand, it invariably becomes "Brief Encounter." They're each married hopelessly to somebody else and they're trying to run off together, but the difficulties are—well, actually, what she's saying is: "When you get through with the dentist, meet at Au Bon Marche and we'll pick out your underwear."

Life's more romantic if you can't quite hear. Or can't quite see. James Thurber wrote a marvelous little piece once about how wild and mysterious and altogether wonderful the world became when he broke his glasses. He'd look out the window and there'd be a unicorn lying there. Actually, a small boy had left his velocipede there, but Thurber's nearsighted eyes and gnomish imagination would add little touches. A horn. Life. The inanimate always became the animate, usually in the most improbable places—a dog lying on the lintel of a doorway, for instance, and he'd wonder how it got there. The trouble with clear vision is that life gets awfully probable.

Condon roves from country to country, a new country every two years, and manages to stave off all understanding of foreign languages very successfully. He lived in France a couple of years and successfully avoided learning French. "Do you realize how much time you waste listening to fragments of other people's conversation? Or little pieces of radio commercials that distract you just enough to prevent your thinking something useful?"

"There's another aspect of this thing," I told him. "The songs. I'm beginning to understand them and it's an awful letdown."

I've always loved French songs with their husky intimations of love beyond mortal comprehension. Now that understanding of French is beginning to grip me, I'm beginning to hear the words. I love you. I miss you. I'm thinking of you always. He left me and I'm desolate. You know, all those corny old thoughts we've been singing in English all these years.

New Psychiatric Prison Accents Treatment

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A new prison is being opened in Grendon Underwood for selected prisoners requiring psychiatric care. According to the British Medical Journal, it will be run by a medical superintendent with wide experience in psychiatry. The regimen will be flexible, with the accent on treatment.

The courts cannot sentence anyone to this prison. The judge may express a wish that the man or woman be treated there while serving his sentence but the suggestion is regarded as a lay opinion. This is necessary because psychiatric treatment cannot be forced on anyone; to be successful, it must be wanted.

The Grendon Underwood commissioners intend to use the prison for those "whose condition does not warrant detention in a mental institution but who require psychiatric treatment." The obviously insane, or the dangerous or repetitive offender—even though psychopathic—will be cared for in ordinary mental hospitals or by the medical service of the prison where they are incarcerated.

Prisons have been established to protect the public but justice to the inmate may call for medical treatment. Many criminals lack moral feeling and a social sense. They are immature and selfish and lack foresight, judgment, and feeling. They are rebels whose early life has taught them to distrust people and their environment.

The true thug is selfish and callous toward his victims. His crimes are likely to be deliberate and he pays particular attention to his escape. Oddly enough, he foresees the future in case he is caught and makes plans for the welfare of his family.

It is the first type that might be helped by psychiatric care and rehabilitation. The aim at Grendon is to assist the more carefully selected prisoner to develop an insight into his own character, difficulties, or personal relationships and to provide the first lessons in community or social living.

The majority of inmates receive treatment during the last six months of their sentence. This plan will give the British psychiatrists an opportunity to investigate the mental condition of offenders and the problem of the psychopath.

ACHING ON INCLINE

H. H. writes: Walking always has been one of my chief sources of exercise. Now, however, I note that my calves and the upper leg muscles ache whenever I go up an incline (not on the level). Can you explain?

REPLY

Walking uphill stretches the Achilles tendon as well as the calf muscles, and soreness can be expected unless you walk on an incline every day.

NERVE DISORDERS

W. H .D. writes: Are the symptoms of polyneuritis similar to those of multiple sclerosis?

REPLY

Somewhat the same, especially the early symptoms consisting of numbness, weakness, and a sensation of pins and needles in the extremities.

STROKE AND ALCOHOLISM

H. H. writes: Could stroke come from deadening of the brain by drunkenness?

REPLY

No, but brain deterioration may follow years of overindulgence and the changes may be indistinguishable from those produced by stroke.

LIFE SPAN OF PINWORMS

L. N. writes: How long does a pinworm live in a person?

REPLY

The complete life cycle is two months. It takes seven weeks from the time the eggs are ingested by the individual until the female worm appears at the anus of the victim. According to these calculations, the female probably dies shortly after laying her eggs. (The male generally dies after fertilization).

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One of those Mars spacemen we've been telling you about found himself in a Las Vegas gambling casino, watching a patron furiously playing a slot machine. Suddenly a miracle occurred. The patron hit the jackpot. Lights flashed on the machine, and a shower of silver dollars poured out.

The spaceman laid a friendly hand on the slot machine and murmured, "Buddy, if I was you, I'd do something for that cold."

The shortest run in theatrical history was in London some fifty years ago when the audience at an opening night was dismissed, with its money returned, after a single act. Critical judgment played no part in the decision. The fact is that the entire cast had gotten hopelessly drunk on champagne provided by an indulgent producer for a picnic scene in the play.

Another theatrical anecdote: inmates of a New England penitentiary rented a set of prisoners' uniforms for a production within prison walls of "My Three Angels." "The uniforms we wear here," explained the prisoner who sent in the order, "are not authentic enough."

Insurance men will tell you the most unpopular insurance salesman who ever lived was the killjoy agent who tried to sell a full coverage policy to Lady Godiva.

A London secretarial employment agency advertised for daughters of titled dads for jobs in the U. S., says it got replies from daughters of two dukes, four knights, three barons. That proved quite a noble idea!

Statistics show that 41 per cent of American families keep dogs as pets while only 29 per cent have pet cats. Good thing for the felines that they have nine lives—being outnumbered like that!

The number of wild grizzly bears in Wyoming has dwindled to less than a dozen, we read. So what?—who's complaining?

The British Broadcasting Company fired one of its TV newscasters when he appeared on the air without a tie. Got it in the neck, as it were!

Some frogs can sing under water—according to a nature item. What's so wonderful about that?—don't scads of humans yodel while taking a shower?

When a Bristol, England, truck driver was fired for stopping at his home for a spot of tea, 30 pals walked off the job. A tempest in a you-know-what?

Industrial Employes Aid In Current CUF Drive

Employes of the area's larger industries once again are carving out their niche in caring for the health, social service and youth needs of Allegany and Mineral counties with their contributions to the Employes Big Seven Division of County United Fund.

Contributions totaling $141,494.14—all from glass workers, rubber workers, textile workers, railroad men, paper workers and ballistics workers—have poured into the 30-agency CUF organization with still more to come.

Shooting for a goal of $150,942, the Big 7 employes drive, under the chairmanship of Andrew M. Lewis and John Foster, has reached 93.7 per cent of the target, according to figures compiled in the third audit of campaign returns.

Currently setting the pace insofar as total contributions are concerned, is the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory Charity Fund, which has contributed $40,000 to the 1962 CUF campaign.

But the pacesetter from the standpoint of average gifts per employe are the employes of Works 7 of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company with an average gift of $26.15.

The total contribution from PPG employes totals $17,048.70.

Employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company have contributed a total of $31,064.94.

The one-drive charity fund at West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has seen employes contribute $20,000.

Celanese Fibers Company employes at Amcelle plant have given County United Fund a total of $18,000 through their charity fund.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employes, continuing their record of support to the once-a-year fund campaign, have responded with $15,380.50.

Western Maryland Railway employes were still conducting their drive at the time other employe contributions were being audited.

Civil Defense Assist Is Offered By Tawes

Gov. J. Millard Tawes yesterday sent a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners pertaining to a program of accelerated Civil Defense programs in view of the tense world situation.

Gov. Tawes told the county board that the aid of the state Civil Defense staff will be placed at the disposal of the Allegany County Civil Defense organization in the event such help is needed.

The governor pointed out that the recent Cuban situation pointed up the need for an accelerated program with adequate fallout shelters for citizens in case of a nuclear conflict.

The letter was referred to Charles G. Smith, director of Civil Defense here. A survey of possible fallout shelters in public and private buildings in the county was completed recently in the county.

Australian Inland Sea

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — Fossilized remains of a crocodile have been found near Alice Springs, in the center of Australia, 1,000 miles from the sea.

The find is regarded as further evidence that a vast inland sea once covered most of the Central Australian desert.

Social Security Contribution Is To Increase

"Starting with the first pay you receive in January, your Social Security contribution will be increased by one-half of one percent on the first $4,800 of your wages," according to Walter R. Campbell, Cumberland Social Security office manager.

"With this increase, your contribution will be three and five-eights percent on your earnings up to $4,800 a year," he added.

"Your contribution, together with a matching amount paid by your employer, is credited to the old-age and survivors insurance trust fund and the disability insurance trust fund," Campbell continued. "By law, these funds can be used only for social security purposes."

The original social security law provided for an ultimate contribution rate of three percent on employers and three per cent on employees to pay the cost of retirement benefits ranging from $10 to $85. The 3 percent rate was scheduled to go into effect in 1949.

The original program has been enlarged by Congress to include benefits for wives and children of retired workers, for the survivors of deceased workers, and for severely disabled workers and their dependents. Benefit amounts have been raised so that for a retired or disabled worker they now range from $40 to $127 and for a family they may be as much as $254. When these improvements were made, the law was amended to provide a schedule of increased contributions to cover the cost. The increase in your contribution to three and five-eights percent is part of that schedule. The present law provides for two additional increases, one in 1966 and the other, bringing the maximum rate to four and five-eights percent, in 1968.

Firemen Nearing End Of Fund Drive

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company is nearing the close of the annual fund drive, according to William O'Neal, chairman.

A total of $1,807.44 out of a goal of $2,200 has been collected so far, O'Neal stated.

Funds collected are used to maintain equipment of the company. Persons in the community who wish to donate to the fund can call O'Neal at 729-2185 or George Mahaney at 729-2458 and a fireman will collect the money.

Those wishing to mail their donation may send it to Mahaney at 456 Bowling Avenue, Cumberland. The department has ordered two radios which will provide the unit with four radios.

Deficits With Or Without Wars

When the Cuban crisis first erupted the administration's previously promised tax cut was considered out of the question. Then the crisis simmered down somewhat and tax cut talk was revived.

The Secretary of the Treasury and various other officials said a tax cut may be needed to stimulate the economy. Some really let go, predicting reductions as high as $15 billion.

When war seems imminent, the official view is that the government needs every dime of available revenue to hold borrowing to a minimum. Thus the inflationary effects of war would be slowed by paying the added costs out of current income insofar as possible.

But certainly the government doesn't need a war in order to run up deficits. With rare exceptions it has been on a deficit financing basis for more than 30 years.

Thus it isn't apparent why a tax cut should be deemed less hazardous when a war threat is, mistakenly or otherwise, presumed to have abated. The government still is running whopping deficits.

With the coming of $100 billion budgets the indications are that the deficits of the future may become even more impressive than some of the deficits of the World War II era.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

What's Wrong?

The new laws come piling in. I am now up to Public Law 87-884. It all takes time and Congress seems to meet forever.

This is a matter that stirs men's souls. The Golden Eagle may become extinct. The Bald Eagle is in danger of disappearing from the face of the Earth. The Bald Eagle is the symbol of our country. If the Golden Eagle goes, the Bald Eagle will go and the rodents will eat the crops. So Congress has to pass a law.

It could, of course, be done more simply. The Secretary of the Interior could issue a proclamation in defense of the Golden and Bald Eagles and all other birds that eat products, but then that would simplify matters and send the Representatives home to talk to their constituents to find out about Cuba and taxes and such matters. Instead, Congress must pass every kind of act and perhaps have a speech or two on the subject.

Just think of the mental effort that goes into a paragraph like:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the first two sections of the Act of June 8, 1940 (54 Stat. 250, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 668, 668A), are hereby amended to read as follows: 'Whoever, within the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof, without being permitted to do so as hereinafter provided, shall take, possess, sell, purchase, barter, offer to sell, purchase or barter, transport, export or import, at any time or in any manner, any bald eagle commonly known as the American eagle, or any golden eagle, alive or dead, or any part, nest, or egg thereof of the foregoing eagles, shall be fined not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both: Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit possession or transportation of any bald eagle, alive or dead, or any part, nest, or egg thereof, lawfully taken prior to June 8, 1940, and that nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit possession or transportation of any golden eagle, alive or dead, or any part, nest, or egg thereof, lawfully taken prior to the addition to this Act of the provisions relating to preservation of the golden eagle.'"

Suppose it were all made easy by saying that anybody caught with one of these birds, dead or alive, would be fined $500 or put in jail for six months, and it was all just a proclamation by the Secretary of the Interior. That would give somebody in the Interior Department something useful to do, chasing eagle-shooters, while Congress debated on how to save our gold.

Every year, we watch the Representatives and Senators hanging around Washington waiting for the nod to vote aye or nay for a bill. Then comes around election time and they want to go home to talk to the constituents. But no! That is when the worthy Senators and Representatives get loaded down with all kinds of bills, including important ones, and they are so anxious to go home to see the voters that they just can't be bothered reading the bills or debating them.

Of course, sometimes somebody like De Gaulle comes along and upsets the normal manoeuvres of the politicians. He goes straight to the people and gets them to vote the usual and permanent politicians out of office. In their place, he puts himself and calls it democracy, and the people cheer. So De Gaulle has his way. He has, in effect, revolutionized the French political system and we have to watch to see how long it takes to revolutionize it back to what it used to be. Actually, De Gaulle has made less of the National Assembly and more of the Presidency, which our Presidents have been doing for many years.

Nevertheless, as we are a romantic people, we have to give the Representatives and Senators much to do, so that they will not have time enough to do any very tough investigating. For instance, why does no committee of Congress investigate the Fourth Floor of the State Department to discover why those who put Castro on the Cuban throne are still employed by the American government?

Of course, if it is so important to spend time passing legislation about the Golden and the Bald Eagles, how can anyone expect them to have time to go into the Cuban questions in depth?

Will India Become Aligned With United States?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The United States is getting ready to help India in her war with Red China. Military supplies and perhaps technical advisers will be sent to aid Indian military forces. Great Britain is doing the same.

This is a development of far-reaching importance in America's relations with the Far East.

For it means that at last the United States and the West will have a leverage as against Red China and cause the Communists to hesitate before attacking Formosa or the people of any other area in the Western Pacific now allied with this country.

It is, therefore, to the military advantage of the United States to assist India. Also, India's request for assistance from America is, in effect, the beginning of military alliance.

Conceivably, if India becomes a real military power and is definitely aligned against Red China, the day may come when the Chinese in Tibet will feel encouraged to take the risks of a revolt against the Communist regime in Peiping.

Certainly the whole Southeast Asia situation will be affected favorably for the United States if there is a definite military tie-up between America and India. This becomes a potential force in diplomacy and can achieve a kind of balance of power which could postpone indefinitely, if not avert, a big war between Red China and the West.

It is important, too, to note that Pandit Nehru seems to have learned a lesson which should be taken to heart by other so-called "neutrals" of the world. It is that, when the chips are down, little help of substance can be expected from the Soviet Union. For a long time now Mr. Nehru has played ball with Moscow. Perhaps much of this can be blamed on Krishna Menon, who seems to have swallowed the Communist line for many years. He finally was forced out of the position of Minister of Defense and then out of the Cabinet altogether by the realists inside India who couldn't tolerate his double-dealing.

With Krishna Menon out of the picture, the patriotic leaders of India might influence Mr. Nehru to become a full-fledged partner of the West, particularly the United States. India over the next 25 years will need economic help for her huge population, but she can make no progress in a sociological or industrial way unless her military position is secure. If the United States is able to accomplish this for her, the future of India's relationships with this country will be on a firm basis.

The Indian government itself, however, is not without fault. Its dispute with Pakistan over the Kashmir territory is illogical and unjustified. The people of Kashmir are Moslems and, if it were left to a vote, they would go to Pakistan. India has refused to negotiate. This is a mistake.

Likewise, Mr. Nehru made a blunder in the way he handled the Goa question. Here was a province that had belonged to Portugal for centuries. There were many ways to settle the dispute equitably, but these were disregarded by him and an act of aggression was substituted. This lost India lots of friends in the outside world. For Mr. Nehru had been the leading champion of the formula of settling international disputes by mediation and other peaceful methods.

Now the future of India herself is at stake. An act of aggression has been committed by Red China. India has already lost a valuable part of her territory. It is a paradox to read news reports from New Delhi stating that, in spite of what has happened, Mr. Nehru still favors the admission of Red China into the United Nations. Yet it was a similar act of aggression by Red China in North Korea in 1950 against U. N. forces which prompted the passing of a resolution by the General Assembly which condemned Red China as an aggressor. This has been the main reason why the United States has held out firmly ever since against rewarding an aggressor with membership in the United Nations.

If there's a more enlightened attitude by India in the field of international affairs and if Red China is outlawed at last in New Delhi because of the latest acts of aggression, then the way is opened for a mutually helpful relationship between the United States and India. It may prove costly in money to this country, but it is a military maneuver of vast importance to the United States. It could be the means of saving many American boys from another Korean-type war in Asia.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NEXT CONGRESS—Behind the show of political unity on Cuba, there are some members of Congress in high places who privately believe that the Republican Party was backed into a corner on a legitimate, and to them potentially winning, issue in the recent elections. There is little they can do about it now, but they'll remember it. There will be less cooperation with the President among Republicans on Capitol Hill. The elections have served to polarize the two political parties into postures of firmer opposition to each other.

This will be reflected in sharper debate on foreign policy issues, an eagerness on the part of the opposition to block President Kennedy's requests for foreign aid funds. It will be reflected in domestic issues as well, with greater anxiety to stop the New Frontier in its tracks, or at least arouse public sentiment against its principles.

President Kennedy, with his background of legislative experience, fared well personally with both parties during the 87th Congress. It will be far different in the 88th.

LIFE GOES ON—Despite heavy preoccupation with the Cuban crisis, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges is perfecting plans for a 'round-the-world trip billed as an effort to stimulate our commerce with foreign countries. Most of Hodges' itinerary is concentrated in the Asiatic area, carrying him down to Australia and New Zealand.

Because it's in the vicinity, he's giving serious consideration to making a side-trip to Antarctica. It's a little bit hard for his staff to talk about this part of the tour, because inevitably they're asked if he's planning to sell ice-boxes to Eskimos.

Then, they've got to explain that Eskimos live in the extreme northern regions and that there are no native inhabitants at the South Pole. Which in turn draws the question: Then, what is he going to try to sell to whom?

New Psychiatric Prison Accents Treatment

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A new prison is being opened in Grendon Underwood for selected prisoners requiring psychiatric care. According to the British Medical Journal, it will be run by a medical superintendent with wide experience in psychiatry. The regimen will be flexible, with the accent on treatment.

The courts cannot sentence anyone to this prison. The judge may express a wish that the man or woman be treated there while serving his sentence but the suggestion is regarded as a lay opinion. This is necessary because psychiatric treatment cannot be forced on anyone; to be successful, it must be wanted.

The Grendon Underwood commissioners intend to use the prison for those "whose condition does not warrant detention in a mental institution but who require psychiatric treatment." The obviously insane, or the dangerous or repetitive offender—even though psychopathic—will be cared for in ordinary mental hospitals or by the medical service of the prison where they are incarcerated.

Prisons have been established to protect the public but justice to the inmate may call for medical treatment. Many criminals lack moral feeling and a social sense. They are immature and selfish and lack foresight, judgment, and feeling. They are rebels whose early life has taught them to distrust people and their environment.

The true thug is selfish and callous toward his victims. His crimes are likely to be deliberate and he pays particular attention to his escape. Oddly enough, he foresees the future in case he is caught and makes plans for the welfare of his family.

It is the first type that might be helped by psychiatric care and rehabilitation. The aim at Grendon is to assist the more carefully selected prisoner to develop an insight into his own character, difficulties, or personal relationships, and to provide the first lessons in community or social living.

The majority of inmates receive treatment during the last six months of their sentence. This plan will give the British psychiatrists an opportunity to investigate the mental condition of offenders and the problem of the psychopath.

ACHING ON INCLINE

H. H. writes: Walking always has been one of my chief sources of exercise. Now, however, I note that my calves and the upper leg muscles ache whenever I go up an incline (not on the level). Can you explain?

REPLY

Walking uphill stretches the Achilles tendon as well as the calf muscles, and soreness can be expected unless you walk on an incline every day.

NERVE DISORDERS

W. H. D. writes: Are the symptoms of polyneuritis similar to those of multiple sclerosis?

REPLY

Somewhat the same, especially the early symptoms consisting of numbness, weakness, and a sensation of pins and needles in the extremities.

STROKE AND ALCOHOLISM

H. H. writes: Could stroke come from deadening of the brain by drunkenness?

REPLY

No, but brain deterioration may follow years of overindulgence and the changes may be indistinguishable from those produced by stroke.

LIFE SPAN OF PINWORMS

L. N. writes: How long does a pinworm live in a person?

REPLY

The complete life cycle is two months. It takes seven weeks from the time the eggs are ingested by the individual until the female worm appears at the anus of the victim. According to these calculations, the female probably dies shortly after laying her eggs. (The male generally dies after fertilization).

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

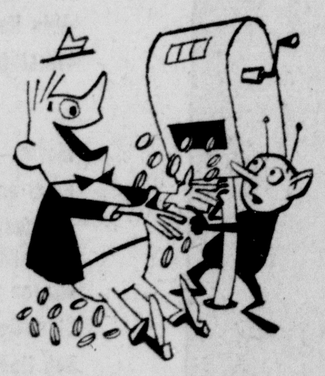

By Bennett Cerf

One of those Mars spacemen we've been telling you about found himself in a Las Vegas gambling casino, watching a patron furiously playing a slot machine. Suddenly a miracle occurred. The patron hit the jackpot. Lights flashed on the machine, and a shower of silver dollars poured out.

The spaceman laid a friendly hand on the slot machine and murmured, "Buddy, if I was you, I'd do something for that cold."

The shortest run in theatrical history was in London some fifty years ago when the audience at an opening night was dismissed, with its money returned, after a single act. Critical judgment played no part in the decision. The fact is that the entire cast had gotten hopelessly drunk on champagne provided by an indulgent producer for a picnic scene in the play.

Another theatrical anecdote: inmates of a New England penitentiary rented a set of prisoners' uniforms for a production within prison walls of "My Three Angels." "The uniforms we wear here," explained the prisoner who sent in the order, "are not authentic enough."

Insurance men will tell you the most unpopular insurance salesman who ever lived was the kill-joy agent who tried to sell a full coverage policy to Lady Godiva.

FDA Still Has No Administrator To Enforce New Drug Measure

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Kennedy administration, after focusing much attention on deformed-baby drugs, has been dragging its feet regarding the appointment of a doctor who would prevent similar drugs from reaching the market.

The doctor needed is to direct the Bureau of Medicine in the Food and Drug Administration with the job of preventing eager-beaver drug companies from pushing drugs out to doctors until they are sufficiently tested. It was in this agency that Dr. Frances Kelsey fought against the use of thalidomide, a sleeping pill which has caused thousands of deformed babies.

On August 6, Dr. William Kessenich, director of the Bureau of Medicine, resigned. Ever since last year, when he gave notice of his intended resignation, the Food and Drug Administration has been on notice to get a new man, and in March, Director George Larrick recommended Dr. Charles May, professor of pediatrics at New York University Medical Center and a member of the AMA's Council on Drugs.

Dr. May was editor of the medical journal "Pediatrics" until he testified before the Kefauver committee and wrote an illuminating article on "Selling Drugs by 'Educating' Physicians" which referred to the practice of some drug companies of giving drugs to doctors and asking them to experiment on their patients.

Since then Dr. May has not exactly been the darling of the drug industry. But in no sense has this impaired his qualifications to be a policeman for the public. However, seven months have dragged by and there has been no action on Commissioner Larrick's recommendation.

Hot And Cold Drugs

The Kennedy administration has blown hot and cold on the question of safe drugs.

When Sen. Estes Kefauver, D., Tenn., was trying to pass a drug bill with teeth in it, the White House sent a message to Congress which helped cut the heart out of his bill. In fact, the bill would have died had it not been for the publicity focused on thalidomide by Dr. Frances Kelsey, plus the dramatic flight of TV commentator Sherri Finkbine to Sweden for a legal abortion.

After this, the Kennedy administration reversed itself, gave an award to Dr. Kelsey, and got behind the Kefauver drug bill. It did not, however, back one of the bill's most important provisions—bitterly fought by the drug industry—the release of patents to other drug firms at a nominal royalty after a certain period of exclusive use.

All-in-all, however, the Kefauver drug bill is the strongest ever passed by Congress. The chief thing now needed is a director of the Bureau of Medicine to help administer it.

Your Post Office

The other day I went up to Media, Pa., near which in my youth I used to trap skunks, and listened to the dedication ceremony of the new Post Office by Tyler Abell, special assistant to the Postmaster General. Here are some things I never knew before about the post office: Up until July 1, 1847, there were no postage stamps. Mail was sent C.O.D.—except for franked mail. . . . Benjamin Franklin who served as Postmaster General for the Colonies under King George III used to sign franked mail "Free—B. Franklin." Later as the revolt against George III warmed up, the Postmaster General changed his signature to "B. Free Franklin." King George couldn't stomach this and fired him. But after independence, Franklin became the first Postmaster General of the United States.

When the Post Office decided to issue the now famous Dag Hammarskjold stamp, all kinds of complaints were received, some calling Dag a Communist. One letter warned: "When Dag Hammarskjold's body was found, there was discovered in his shirt front a playing card, specifically the ace of spades. This proves that Dag Hammarskjold had been cheating at cards, and it would be disgraceful to issue a commemorative stamp for someone who cheats at cards."

The Postmaster General receives 100 letters a day from Congressmen complaining, on behalf of constituents, about one thing or another, ranging from pleas for new Post Offices to requests that Mr. and Mrs. John Doe be permitted to move their mailbox to the other side of the road. Despite complaints, however, the Postal Service is handling more mail with less proportionate personnel and more efficiency. . . . Today it has 587,000 employes and they handle 67,000,000,000 pieces of mail to 187,000,000 people. That is 13 times as much mail as handled in 1890, yet the number of employes has increased only six times. . . . In 1911 the gross receipts handled by the Media, Pa., Post Office were $1,180 per postal employe; in 1961 $5,400 per postal employe. . . . In the entire government in 1953, there were 16 federal employes for every 1,000 people in the U.S.A. In 1961 the figure was only 13. . . . In brief, government is not getting larger and less efficient; it is getting more efficient, and the population of federal employes is growing at a proportionately slower rate than the population of the nation.

That's quite a score for bureaucracy.

Ignorance Is Golden

PARIS

"It's great to live in a country where you don't understand the language," Richard Condon, the man who wrote "The Manchurian Candidate" and other figments of the imagination, said to me the other day. Well, we all know that's heresy, don't we? The first thing the man abroad is supposed to do is learn the language, mingle with the natives, and find out what they think.

But the trouble with all that, according to Condon, is that you find out what they think. And you wish you hadn't.

"You sit behind an emotional woman in the bus. Her lamentations fill the air. You think, my God, her husband has left her, her daughter has run off with Elvis Presley, or some other catastrophe has occurred. You know what she's saying? She's saying: 'If that butcher sticks me once more with that lousy lamb of his, I'm going to give him a piece of my mind'."

That is probably true. I am an incurable romantic and my own speculations about what's being discussed in public conveyances, particularly French subways, is pretty high-level imagining. French is a conspiratorial language and Frenchmen, especially, speak it with a great darting about of the eyes. I watch a couple of Frenchmen in the subway, their eyeballs rolling about, emitting little exclamations and French r's. "They're plotting to shoot de Gaulle again," I think. (Somebody's always doing that here. They always miss).

Actually what they're saying is: "They used to keep the Metro cleaner under Mendes-France."

If it's a man and woman seated together on a subway or any public conveyance, talking a language I can't understand, it invariably becomes "Brief Encounter." They're each married hopelessly to somebody else and they're trying to run off together, but the difficulties are—well, actually, what she's saying is: "When you get through with the dentist, meet at Au Bon Marche and we'll pick out your underwear."

Life's more romantic if you can't quite hear. Or can't quite see. James Thurber wrote a marvelous little piece once about how wild and mysterious and altogether wonderful the world became when he broke his glasses. He'd look out the window and there'd be a unicorn lying there. Actually, a small boy had left his velocipede there, but Thurber's nearsighted eyes and gnomish imagination would add little touches. A horn. Life. The inanimate always became the animate, usually in the most improbable places—a dog lying on the lintel of a doorway, for instance, and he'd wonder how it got there. The trouble with clear vision is that life gets awfully probable.

Condon roves from country to country, a new country every two years, and manages to stave off all understanding of foreign languages very successfully. He lived in France a couple of years and successfully avoided learning French. "Do you realize how much time you waste listening to fragments of other people's conversation? Or little pieces of radio commercials that distract you just enough to prevent your thinking something useful?"

"There's another aspect of this thing," I told him. "The songs. I'm beginning to understand them and it's an awful letdown."

I've always loved French songs with their husky intimations of love beyond mortal comprehension. Now that understanding of French is beginning to grip me, I'm beginning to hear the words. I love you. I miss you. I'm thinking of you always. He left me and I'm desolate. You know, all those corny old thoughts we've been singing in English all these years.

Campers Used 10 Different Defenses In 14-14 Deadlock

Allegany Surprises Fort Hill; Payne Star In Beall's 21-0 Win

Coach Ed Schwarz last evening stated that Allegany High School used ten different defenses in holding a favored Fort Hill eleven to a 14-14 tie before 7,200 spectators in the 27th annual Thanksgiving Day game between the schools at the local stadium.

"It was the first time we tried that many defenses in a single game and it brought results," Schwarz asserted.

The Allegany mentor stated that his aides, Ronnie Chapman and George Stimmel were the "unsung heroes" of the game as they worked hard to get the Campers up for the big one.

A special assembly will be held Monday at Allegany High School at 9:15 in honor of the football team and letters will be awarded the players, Schwarz said.

Each team scored a touchdown in the opening period which ended 7-7, Fort Hill moved ahead at 14-7 in the second quarter and Allegany knotted the count at 14-14 in the third period.

The Campers marched 58 yards for their first score and this Merrill's one-yard plunge. Jim drive was culminated by Dave Bowman ran the extra point.

Score On 72-Yard Drive

Fort Hill drove 72 yards for its initial td with Richard Robinson carrying the ball over on a 13-yard scamper. Norman "Pat" Wilson booted the extra point.

In the second period Fort Hill forged ahead at 14-7 on Delbert Proudfoot's 25-yard pass to Jack Williams and Wilson split the uprights on his extra point try.

Jim Bowman accounted for Allegany's second td which climaxed a 64-yard drive and Halfback Mike Harvey ran the extra point to tie it up for the last time.

14th Tie This Season

The tie was the third in the 27-game series and the 14th of the 1962 season for high schools and colleges in this area.

Fort Hill reeled off 15 first downs to Allegany's 10 but lost the ball on downs four times to the Campers' none. The Sentinels completed 6 of 9 passes for 61 yards and Allegany connected in its only try for a one-yard gain. Coach Lattimer's team gained a total of 274 net yards to Allegany's 186. The Campobello team was penalized 20 yards to their crosstown rivals' 35.

Richard Robinson was Fort Hill's chief ground gainer with 147 yards in 23 carries for a 6.4 average. Mike Harvey paced Allegany with 93 yards for 4.4 while Jim Bowman gained 87 yards for 4.8. Bowman's seven points gave the city scoring champion a total of 66 for the season.

Gale-like winds prevailed during a greater part of the contest but most of the spectators stayed until the final whistle.

Jack Payne Sparkles

At Frostburg, Beall High School, the favorite, scored a 21-0 decision over LaSalle High School in their annual Turkey Day contest which was highlighted by the play of Jack Payne, a senior reserve halfback, who scored touchdowns on 6 and 75 yard runs and ran an extra point to account for 13 of the 20 tallies. Payne hadn't scored a point for Beall prior to Thursday's game.

Joe James registered the other Mountaineer td on a two-yard plunge. Two additional points went to Beall on a safety when Terry McElfish of LaSalle stepped out of the end zone on a punt.

LaSalle rang up six first downs to Beall's five in a sea of mud in a game played during a gale. Beall's total net yards gained were 141 to LaSalle's 82. Each team lost the ball on downs once. The Explorers passed eight times and completed two for nine yards while the Mountaineers passed once and connected for 11 yards. Beall was set back 55 yards on penalties to LaSalle's 15.

Northwestern Hands Miami 29-7 Setback

60,341 Fans See Hurricanes Lose

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR
United Press International

MIAMI (UPI) — Northwestern, with a cracking ground game and the key passes of quarterback Tommy Myers, whipped a fumbling Miami team and off-key George Mira Friday night, 29-7.

Fumbles, one by Mira and the other on one of his pitchouts, cost the Hurricanes two touchdowns, and halfback Dick McCauley's interception of a Mira pass set up another score for the Wildcats before a big Orange Bowl crowd of 60,341.

It was McCauley who landed on both the fumbles, and who also intercepted a second Mira pass to put the squelch on a Hurricane drive.

Myers, halfbacks McCauley, Willie Stinson, fullbacks Steve Murphy and Pete Stamison were the big offensive guns for Northwestern which would up its season on a comeback note and a 7-2 record.

Murphy smashed over from a yard out for the first two Northwestern scores in the first half. Stamison kicked a field goal and scored a touchdown on a plunge in the second half—and also booted two of three extra point tries.

Substitute quarterback Fred Quinn scored the final Wildcat touchdown on a six-yard keep play after McCauley intercepted a Mira pass and dashed 20 yards from scrimmage.

The Hurricanes drew first blood on a 62-yard drive marked by halfback Nick Ryder's jarring gains through the line and a 22-yard Mira pass to Ryder. Ryder leaped over from the one and Bob Wilson kicked the extra point.

Miami entered the game with chances at both the Gotham Bowl in New York and the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville—and apparently came out with the same chances still alive. A Gotham Bowl spokesman said his committee was sticking to its invitation to the Hurricanes, and the Gator Bowl berth goes to the winner of next week's Miami-Florida game here.

Miami now has a 6-3 record.

Giants Favored Over Redskins In Sunday Tilt

Colts Picked To Win Over Chicago Bears

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The Washington Redskins and Pittsburgh Steelers set out Sunday to match what the Detroit Lions did on Thanksgiving Day.

The object, of course, is to make a close race of the National Football League's Eastern Division, just like the Lions did in the West with their 26-14 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

The Redskins (5-3-2) have an opportunity to take matters into their own hands, since they play the division-leading New York Giants (8-2) in the nation's capital. The Steelers (6-4) meet the Browns (5-4-1) at Cleveland.

Both eastern challengers are underdogs. The Giants are favored by 7½ points over Washington and Cleveland is picked by 6½ over the Steelers.

In Sunday's four other games, the Baltimore Colts are the choice by 6 points at home over the Chicago Bears; the San Francisco Forty Niners are favored by 2 over the Cardinals at St. Louis; the Dallas Cowboys are 1 point over the Eagles at Philadelphia, and the Minnesota Vikings are 6 at home over the Los Angeles Rams.

Title Drawn Out

For the Giants, the process of clinching a second straight Eastern Division title is a drawn-out affair because of the two ties on the Redskins' record. Since ties are not counted in the NFL standings, the Redskins actually could clinch the division crown by winding up the season with one less victory than the Giants.

Coach Bill McPeak of the 'Skins still doesn't believe the margin of the Giants' 49-34 victory in their Oct. 28 game represents the real difference in the two teams. In that game, Giants quarterback Y. A. Tittle threw a record-tying 7 touchdown passes and gained 505 yards.

"They just got us on a day when Tittle could have been throwing lefthanded and hitting," McPeak said. "They won't do it again."

Won Five In Row

The Giants now have won their last five games and are in excellent physical condition. And although they have been tabbed pass-happy, the Giants showed a strong running game in last Sunday's 19-14 win over the Eagles in the mud.

the GREAT PLAY in College Football

Bill Herron grabbing game-winning pass for Georgia.

THE GREATEST, most thrilling game ever played in beautiful Sanford Stadium in Athens, Ga., was the Georgia-Auburn classic of Nov. 14, 1959. A win by the Bulldogs, who were 5-0-0 in Southeastern Conference play, would clinch the conference crown no matter what happened in the finale against Georgia Tech. And, the Tigers of Ralph Jordan, boasting a conference chart of 4-1-0, were still in the championship running.

It looked like the Tigers' game, 13-7, with only three minutes showing on the clock. But Bryant Harvard, the Tigers' quarterback, faking a pass on a right end sweep, was hit hard by Georgia left end Bill Herron, causing a fumble that All-America guard Pat Dye recovered at the Auburn 35.

Instantly, Wallace Butts, one of the nation's all-time great passing coaches, rushed into action flingin' Francis Tarkenton (now starring for the Minnesota Vikings). Tarkenton connected with captain Don Soberdash for 16 yards, then repeated the play for nine more. But here the famed Auburn defense held for three downs.

With 30 seconds left on the clock, Tarkenton faded back for the fatal fourth-down pitch. He looked to the right and faked once, then turned sharply and hurled wide to the left to Bill Herron who had got the step on an Auburn sideback. Herron hauled in the 13-yard pass at the goal line and pandemonian set in.

Georgia place-kicking specialist Durward Pennington was so excited, as he kicked the game-winning PAT, that he later said he thought the touchdown had put Georgia ahead by one point.

Maury Wills Is Voted MVP In National

Beats Out Mays By Seven Ballots

BOSTON (UPI) — Little Maury Wills of the Los Angeles Dodgers was living proof Friday that crime DOES pay — at least in baseball.

Wills, who set a major league record of 104 stolen bases that almost carried the Dodgers to the National League pennant, Friday was named the senior circuit's Most Valuable Player for 1962, barely edging Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants.

The 160 - pound shortstop received a total of 209 points to 202 for Mays, while Tommy Davis of the Dodgers was third with 175 and last year's winner, Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds, was fourth with 164.

The race between the 30-year-old Wills and Mays, the major leagues' home run leader with 49, was the NL's closest since 1957 when Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves shaded Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals by nine points.

Soft-spoken Wills, when told of his selection at Spokane, Wash., said "winning the Most Valuable Player award is a greater thrill to me than breaking Ty Cobb's record." Cobb held the old base-stealing record of 96

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, recently voted the Cy Young award as the outstanding pitcher in the majors, finished fifth in the MVP race with 85 points, while Aaron had 72 points for sixth place. Jack Sanford of the Giants had 62, followed by Bob Purkey of the Reds with 33, Frank Howard of the Dodgers with 32 and Musial with 19 to round out the top 10.

Industrial Employes Aid In Current CUF Drive

Employes of the area's larger industries once again are carving out their niche in caring for the health, social service and youth needs of Allegany and Mineral counties with their contributions to the Employes Big Seven Division of County United Fund.

Contributions totaling $141,494.14—all from glass workers, rubber workers, textile workers, railroad men, paper workers and ballistics workers—have poured into the 30-agency CUF organization with still more to come.

Shooting for a goal of $150,942, the Big 7 employes drive, under the chairmanship of Andrew M. Lewis and John Foster, has reached 93.7 per cent of the target, according to figures compiled in the third audit of campaign returns.

Currently setting the pace insofar as total contributions are concerned, is the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory Charity Fund, which has contributed $40,000 to the 1962 CUF campaign.

But the pacesetter from the standpoint of average gifts per employe are the employes of Works 7 of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company with an average gift of $26.15.

The total contribution from PPG employes totals $17,048.70.

Employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company have contributed a total of $31,064.94.

The one-drive charity fund at West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has seen employes contribute $20,000.

Celanese Fibers Company employes at Amcelle plant have given County United Fund a total of $18,000 through their charity fund.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employes, continuing their record of support to the once-a-year fund campaign, have responded with $15,380.50.

Civil Defense Assist Is Offered By Tawes

Gov. J. Millard Tawes yesterday sent a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners pertaining to a program of accelerated Civil Defense programs in view of the tense world situation.

Gov. Tawes told the county board that the aid of the state Civil Defense staff will be placed at the disposal of the Allegany County Civil Defense organization in the event such help is needed.

The governor pointed out that the recent Cuban situation pointed up the need for an accelerated program with adequate fallout shelters for citizens in case of a nuclear conflict.

The letter was referred to Charles G. Smith, director of Civil Defense here. A survey of possible fallout shelters in public and private buildings in the county was completed recently in the county.

Australian Inland Sea

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — Fossilized remains of a crocodile have been found near Alice Springs, in the center of Australia, 1,000 miles from the sea.

The find is regarded as further evidence that a vast inland sea once covered most of the Central Australian desert.

Social Security Contribution Is To Increase

"Starting with the first pay you receive in January, your Social Security contribution will be increased by one-half of one percent on the first $4,800 of your wages," according to Walter R. Campbell, Cumberland Social Security office manager.

"With this increase, your contribution will be three and five-eights percent on your earnings up to $4,800 a year," he added.

"Your contribution, together with a matching amount paid by your employer, is credited to the old-age and survivors insurance trust fund and the disability insurance trust fund," Campbell continued. "By law, these funds can be used only for social security purposes."

The original social security law provided for an ultimate contribution rate of three percent on employers and three per cent on employees to pay the cost of retirement benefits ranging from $10 to $85. The 3 percent rate was scheduled to go into effect in 1949.

The original program has been enlarged by Congress to include benefits for wives and children of retired workers, for the survivors of deceased workers, and for severely disabled workers and their dependents. Benefit amounts have been raised so that for a retired or disabled worker they now range from $40 to $127 and for a family they may be as much as $254. When these improvements were made, the law was amended to provide a schedule of increased contributions to cover the cost. The increase in your contribution to three and five-eights percent is part of that schedule. The present law provides for two additional increases, one in 1966 and the other, bringing the maximum rate to four and five-eights percent, in 1968.

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company is nearing the close of the annual fund drive, according to William O'Neal, chairman.

Funds collected are used to maintain equipment of the company. Persons in the community who wish to donate to the fund can call O'Neal at 729-2185 or George Mahaney at 729-2458 and a fireman will collect the money.

Those wishing to mail their donation may send it to Mahaney at 456 Bowling Avenue, Cumberland. The department has ordered two radios which will provide the unit with four radios.

40 Persons Injured Following St. John's Win Over Eastern

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Washington announced Friday a moratorium on endorsing participation by Catholic schools in championship football or basketball games with public high schools.

The archdiocese acted after disorders followed Thursday's high school championship football game between St. John's and Eastern High School. The Catholic team, with more than 50,000 persons watching, won by a score of 21-7.

At least 40 persons were injured in scores of brawls and scattered street fights that erupted as the spectators left D. C. Stadium, scene of the contest.

The Right Rev. Msgr. John S. Spence, director of education for the archdiocese, announced the moratorium on endorsing the games "to prevent any recurrence of a similar outbreak of lawlessness so dangerous to public safety."

Earlier, Walter N. Tobriner, president of District of Columbia Board of Commissioners and a member of the Armory Board which operates the big stadium, said:

"I don't think we should have the game. There should at least be a lapse of a year until people learn to behave."

"I don't think," he added, "that we can stand this sort of thing again. It's not good for the city, not good for sports and not good for the schools."

Campers Used 10 Different Defenses In 14-14 Deadlock

Allegany Surprises Fort Hill; Payne Star In Beall's 21-0 Win

Coach Ed Schwarz last evening stated that Allegany High School used ten different defenses in holding a favored Fort Hill eleven to a 14-14 tie before 7,200 spectators in the 27th annual Thanksgiving Day game between the schools at the local stadium.

"It was the first time we tried that many defenses in a single game and it brought results," Schwarz asserted.

The Allegany mentor stated that his aides, Ronnie Chapman and George Stimmel were the "unsung heroes" of the game as they worked hard to get the Campers up for the big one.

A special assembly will be held Monday at Allegany High School at 9:15 in honor of the football team and letters will be awarded the players, Schwarz said.

Each team scored a touchdown in the opening period which ended 7-7, Fort Hill moved ahead at 14-7 in the second quarter and Allegany knotted the count at 14-14 in the third period.

The Campers marched 58 yards for their first score and this Merrill's one-yard plunge. Jim drive was culminated by Dave Bowman ran the extra point.

Score On 72-Yard Drive

Fort Hill drove 72 yards for its initial td with Richard Robinson carrying the ball over on a 13-yard scamper. Norman "Pat" Wilson booted the extra point.

In the second period Fort Hill forged ahead at 14-7 on Delbert Proudfoot's 25-yard pass to Jack Williams and Wilson split the uprights on his extra point try.

Jim Bowman accounted for Allegany's second td which climaxed a 64-yard drive and Halfback Mike Harvey ran the extra point to tie it up for the last time.

14th Tie This Season

The tie was the third in the 27-game series and the 14th of the 1962 season for high schools and colleges in this area.

Fort Hill reeled off 15 first downs to Allegany's 10 but lost the ball on downs four times to the Campers' none. The Sentinels completed 6 of 9 passes for 61 yards and Allegany connected in its only try for a one-yard gain. Coach Lattimer's team gained a total of 274 net yards to Allegany's 186. The Campobello team was penalized 20 yards to their crosstown rivals' 35.

Richard Robinson was Fort Hill's chief ground gainer with 147 yards in 23 carries for a 6.4 average. Mike Harvey paced Allegany with 93 yards for 4.4 while Jim Bowman gained 87 yards for 4.8. Bowman's seven points gave the city scoring champion a total of 66 for the season.

Gale-like winds prevailed during a greater part of the contest but most of the spectators stayed until the final whistle.

Jack Payne Sparkles

At Frostburg, Beall High School, the favorite, scored a 21-0 decision over LaSalle High School in their annual Turkey Day contest which was highlighted by the play of Jack Payne, a senior reserve halfback, who scored touchdowns on 6 and 75 yard runs and ran an extra point to account for 13 of the 20 tallies. Payne hadn't scored a point for Beall prior to Thursday's game.

Joe James registered the other Mountaineer td on a two-yard plunge. Two additional points went to Beall on a safety when Terry McElfish of LaSalle stepped out of the end zone on a punt.

LaSalle rang up six first downs to Beall's five in a sea of mud in a game played during a gale. Beall's total net yards gained were 141 to LaSalle's 82. Each team lost the ball on downs once. The Explorers passed eight times and completed two for nine yards while the Mountaineers passed once and connected for 11 yards. Beall was set back 55 yards on penalties to LaSalle's 15.

Northwestern Hands Miami 29-7 Setback

60,341 Fans See Hurricanes Lose

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR
United Press International

MIAMI (UPI) — Northwestern, with a cracking ground game and the key passes of quarterback Tommy Myers, whipped a fumbling Miami team and off-key George Mira Friday night, 29-7.

Fumbles, one by Mira and the other on one of his pitchouts, cost the Hurricanes two touchdowns, and halfback Dick McCauley's interception of a Mira pass set up another score for the Wildcats before a big Orange Bowl crowd of 60,341.

It was McCauley who landed on both the fumbles, and who also intercepted a second Mira pass to put the squelch on a Hurricane drive.

Myers, halfbacks McCauley, Willie Stinson, fullbacks Steve Murphy and Pete Stamison were the big offensive guns for Northwestern which would up its season on a comeback note and a 7-2 record.

Murphy smashed over from a yard out for the first two Northwestern scores in the first half. Stamison kicked a field goal and scored a touchdown on a plunge in the second half—and also booted two of three extra point tries.

Substitute quarterback Fred Quinn scored the final Wildcat touchdown on a six-yard keep play after McCauley intercepted a Mira pass and dashed 20 yards from scrimmage.

The Hurricanes drew first blood on a 62-yard drive marked by halfback Nick Ryder's jarring gains through the line and a 22-yard Mira pass to Ryder. Ryder leaped over from the one and Bob Wilson kicked the extra point.

Miami entered the game with chances at both the Gotham Bowl in New York and the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville—and apparently came out with the same chances still alive. A Gotham Bowl spokesman said his committee was sticking to its invitation to the Hurricanes, and the Gator Bowl berth goes to the winner of next week's Miami-Florida game here.

Miami now has a 6-3 record.

Giants Favored Over Redskins In Sunday Tilt

Colts Picked To Win Over Chicago Bears

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The Washington Redskins and Pittsburgh Steelers set out Sunday to match what the Detroit Lions did on Thanksgiving Day.

The object, of course, is to make a close race of the National Football League's Eastern Division, just like the Lions did in the West with their 26-14 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

The Redskins (5-3-2) have an opportunity to take matters into their own hands, since they play the division-leading New York Giants (8-2) in the nation's capital. The Steelers (6-4) meet the Browns (5-4-1) at Cleveland.

Both eastern challengers are underdogs. The Giants are favored by 7½ points over Washington and Cleveland is picked by 6½ over the Steelers.

In Sunday's four other games, the Baltimore Colts are the choice by 6 points at home over the Chicago Bears; the San Francisco Forty Niners are favored by 2 over the Cardinals at St. Louis; the Dallas Cowboys are 1 point over the Eagles at Philadelphia, and the Minnesota Vikings are 6 at home over the Los Angeles Rams.

Title Drawn Out

For the Giants, the process of clinching a second straight Eastern Division title is a drawn-out affair because of the two ties on the Redskins' record. Since ties are not counted in the NFL standings, the Redskins actually could clinch the division crown by winding up the season with one less victory than the Giants.

Coach Bill McPeak of the 'Skins still doesn't believe the margin of the Giants' 49-34 victory in their Oct. 28 game represents the real difference in the two teams. In that game, Giants quarterback Y. A. Tittle threw a record-tying 7 touchdown passes and gained 505 yards.

"They just got us on a day when Tittle could have been throwing lefthanded and hitting," McPeak said. "They won't do it again."

Won Five In Row

The Giants now have won their last five games and are in excellent physical condition. And although they have been tabbed pass-happy, the Giants showed a strong running game in last Sunday's 19-14 win over the Eagles in the mud.

THE GREATEST, most thrilling game ever played in beautiful Sanford Stadium in Athens, Ga., was the Georgia-Auburn classic of Nov. 14, 1959. A win by the Bulldogs, who were 5-0-0 in Southeastern Conference play, would clinch the conference crown no matter what happened in the finale against Georgia Tech. And, the Tigers of Ralph Jordan, boasting a conference chart of 4-1-0, were still in the championship running.

It looked like the Tigers' game, 13-7, with only three minutes showing on the clock. But Bryant Harvard, the Tigers' quarterback, faking a pass on a right end sweep, was hit hard by Georgia left end Bill Herron, causing a fumble that All-America guard Pat Dye recovered at the Auburn 35.

Instantly, Wallace Butts, one of the nation's all-time great passing coaches, rushed into action flingin' Francis Tarkenton (now starring for the Minnesota Vikings). Tarkenton connected with captain Don Soberdash for 16 yards, then repeated the play for nine more. But here the famed Auburn defense held for three downs.

With 30 seconds left on the clock, Tarkenton faded back for the fatal fourth-down pitch. He looked to the right and faked once, then turned sharply and hurled wide to the left to Bill Herron who had got the step on an Auburn sideback. Herron hauled in the 13-yard pass at the goal line and pandemonian set in.

Georgia place-kicking specialist Durward Pennington was so excited, as he kicked the game-winning PAT, that he later said he thought the touchdown had put Georgia ahead by one point.

Celtics Defeat Zephyrs, 116-104

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Veteran Bob Cousy and unsung Tom Sanders turned in dazzling scoring displays in the final four minutes Friday night to lead the Boston Celtics to a 116-104 National Basketball Association victory over the Chicago Zephyrs.

Former Purdue All - American Terry Dischinger scored 32 points and teammate Walt Bellamy scored 26 and outrebounded Boston's Bill Russell 27-25 to keep the young Chicago team in contention until the final few minutes of play.

Knicks Win Over Syracuse, 116-100

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Knickerbockers won their third game in a row by defeating the Syracuse Nationals, 116 - 110, Friday night before 11,095 fans at Madison Square Garden.

Behind 60-54 at the half, the Knicks outscored the Nats, 29-16, in the third quarter to drop Syracuse into second place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

Willie Naulls, Knick high scorer with 25 points, and Al Butler, who got eight of his 12 points in the third quarter, led the New York rally.

Win Via Forfeit

Spa Bar won three games via the forfeit route from the Cumberland Owls Club in the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League, it was announced last night.

Maury Wills Is Voted MVP In National

Beats Out Mays By Seven Ballots

BOSTON (UPI) — Little Maury Wills of the Los Angeles Dodgers was living proof Friday that crime DOES pay — at least in baseball.

Wills, who set a major league record of 104 stolen bases that almost carried the Dodgers to the National League pennant, Friday was named the senior circuit's Most Valuable Player for 1962, barely edging Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants.

The 160 - pound shortstop received a total of 209 points to 202 for Mays, while Tommy Davis of the Dodgers was third with 175 and last year's winner, Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds, was fourth with 164.

The race between the 30-year-old Wills and Mays, the major leagues' home run leader with 49, was the NL's closest since 1957 when Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves shaded Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals by nine points.

Soft-spoken Wills, when told of his selection at Spokane, Wash., said "winning the Most Valuable Player award is a greater thrill to me than breaking Ty Cobb's record." Cobb held the old base-stealing record of 96

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, recently voted the Cy Young award as the outstanding pitcher in the majors, finished fifth in the MVP race with 85 points, while Aaron had 72 points for sixth place. Jack Sanford of the Giants had 62, followed by Bob Purkey of the Reds with 33, Frank Howard of the Dodgers with 32 and Musial with 19 to round out the top 10.

Henry Hank Tests Peruvian Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mauro Mina of Peru, light heavyweight champion of South America, makes his United States' debut and his bid for a world-title shot Saturday night in a fight with rugged Henry Hank of Detroit at Detroit at Madison Square Garden.

Their 10-rounder will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. EST.

Rangy Mauro, with the explosive straight right, is favored at 13-5 to beat stocky left - hooker Hank because 29-year-old Mauro is rated top contender for the 175-pound crown by the World Boxing Association and because he is unbeaten in his last 31 bouts.

If Mina (pronounced mee - na) wins, he is practically certain to get a shot at Harold Johnson's world title in January, at the Garden or in Philadelphia. Garden boxing director Harry Markson has assured.

40 Persons Injured Following St. John's Win Over Eastern

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Washington announced Friday a moratorium on endorsing participation by Catholic schools in championship football or basketball games with public high schools.

The archdiocese acted after disorders followed Thursday's high school championship football game between St. John's and Eastern High School. The Catholic team, with more than 50,000 persons watching, won by a score of 21-7.

At least 40 persons were injured in scores of brawls and scattered street fights that erupted as the spectators left D. C. Stadium, scene of the contest.

The Right Rev. Msgr. John S. Spence, director of education for the archdiocese, announced the moratorium on endorsing the games "to prevent any recurrence of a similar outbreak of lawlessness so dangerous to public safety."

Earlier, Walter N. Tobriner, president of District of Columbia Board of Commissioners and a member of the Armory Board which operates the big stadium, said:

"I don't think we should have the game. There should at least be a lapse of a year until people learn to behave."

"I don't think," he added, "that we can stand this sort of thing again. It's not good for the city, not good for sports and not good for the schools."

Sport Talk with Troxell by Ted

AN ITEM CROSSED the Sport Talker's desk the other day which is much too good to withhold from the public. We shall, however, withhold the name of the author of this thought-provoking essay.

"I Hate November" is the title of the piece which was written recently by an official for whom we personally have great admiration as one of the finest gentlemen on the area sports scene.

It points an accusing finger at a number of persons, and we hope that after reading it said parties will stop to reflect on its full meaning, and perhaps change their ways accordingly. Here, then, is "I Hate November."

"That's right, I hate November. This may sound like a strange statement to some of you. You'll say, 'The weather is usually pretty good, the hunting season is in full swing, the new model cars are gorgeous, and you even hear an occasional Christmas tune on the radio.' You might add, 'Thanksgiving is approaching, and we should begin giving thanks for many things during such a wonderful time of year.' Despite all these November advantages, I hate it!

I HATE NOVEMBER BECAUSE during this month I start worrying about the basketball season. Nope, I'm not a coach; they're comparatively lucky. They get to win games and receive praise occasionally. I ALWAYS lose!!! The reason for this is because it is rare indeed for the coaches, teams, and fans ALL to be satisfied with the game. Especially, since one team always loses, and I happen to be the referee.

Yes, November is when things begin to change. Oh, of course people are still cordial, but there is an uneasiness when we meet. As the basketball practice season gets under way, the tension mounts. People I pass on the street glance shiftily at me, and seem to be mumbling something to themselves or their companions. Or perhaps I'll see several people talking, and as I near, the conversation stops abruptly.

Sometimes at the local drugstore hangout someone will come over to speak to me, and I feel good for a moment. This feeling is usually short-lived, however, as invariably they say something like, 'How COULD you have made such a call last year?' Last year! Are they still bitter about a call I made last year?

I FIND MYSELF DAYDREAMING of past basketball seasons. The deafening boos, coaches you know real well turning into wild men, lovely cheerleaders yelling things at you through closed car windows as you are leaving for home after a game. I can remember wondering if their parents approve of some of their 'quaint' expressions. Then of course there are those car trips in the snow, and how tired you are the next morning when you get up for work.

I continue reminiscing about past seasons. One year I came out of church on Sunday and a fellow church member stated to me that I had cheated in the game the other night. He was SERIOUS, and the fact that I went to church regularly wasn't about to impress him. I guess it shouldn't, either, but at the time it was difficult to accept.

Wishfully thinking, I say to myself, 'Why couldn't basketball be played with more of a sportsmanlike attitude? It would take character, but basketball is supposed to build character.

The coaches would have to have high ideals and standards, but these should be qualities administrators look for in hiring men who will lead their students and your children.

School leaders would have an educating job to do to reduce booing, hissing and insulting remarks directed at game officials and coaches. However, this is a school-sponsored activity and reflects on the whole school program and the people connected with it.

The players would have to be taught that they should not expect any special considerations not given to other students. They should feel it is a privilege to participate in athletics, and they should not feel that they are doing the school or coach a favor by playing. Anyone connected with athletics should feel that they are representatives of their community and schools. Their conduct in sports and life should make people proud of them.

SUDDENLY I SNAP BACK TO REALITY. What am I saying? This season will probably be the same as all others for me—miserable. I'll continue calling plays, receiving boos and removing spitballs from my hair. I'll change fl

The 'Wicked' Truth

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Troy Gatlin, who looks enough like Vice President Lyndon Johnson to be his twin, was dining with his wife in a swank restaurant.

Not far away a group of diners eyed him closely, whispering excitedly.

As the Gatlins were leaving, a woman member of the group rose, strode up and addressed him as the vice president.

"S-ssh," Gatlin said, nodding toward his wife. "The lady with me is NOT MRS. JOHNSON."

Does It Eat Mice?

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A seagull which seems to think it's a cat makes an odd pet.

Mrs. Jean Sellers reports that the bird won't fly, but follows her around, rubbing against her leg like a cat. It won't eat unless the food is put in water in the bathtub.

What, Again?

NEW YORK (AP) — It wasn't snow, or rain, or heat or gloom of night that kept mailman Thomas X. Reilly from his appointed rounds—it was a dog bite.

He's getting used to it, however. A letter carrier for the past 22 years, this was his 15th bite. He still likes dogs, though, and has one of his own.

Man Is Held For Jury In Entry, Theft

$60 Taken From Service Station

A 24-year-old Paca Street man charged with breaking into his employer's service station late Wednesday night and taking about $60 in cash was committed to Allegany County Jail yesterday in default of $500 bond by Trial Magistrate Paul W. Barnett, who ordered him held for the April term of the grand jury.

Donald L. Walters, of 237 Paca Street, an employe of the Powers Service Station, Henderson Avenue, was arrested at 10:35 a. m. Thursday by City Police Detective Captain James E. Van and Officer William Valentine.

After extensive questioning the man signed a two-page statement admitting his guilt, according to Van who said the station was broken into about 11:45 p. m. Wednesday after the night men had closed for the day.

Van said an 18-by-20-inch window on the ground floor in an alley alongside the building was broken and Walters crawled through. In the process he cut himself on the right thumb, and bloodstains left at the scene led to the man's arrest.

Walters entered the office, found some keys in a desk drawer and tried them until he was able to open a cabinet, where he found a bank bag containing about $60 in bills and coins, $46 of which was later recovered at Walters' home, Van said.

When Van went to the Walters residence to investigate, he noticed a green jacket on a chair, and upon closer inspection found the jacket had been snagged on the jagged glass of the window.

Bloomington Dam Awaits Financing Pact

U. S. To Pay 2/3 Of Total Cost

Construction of a $51 million high dam on the North Branch of the Potomac at Bloomington can't get started until financing arrangements are worked out among federal, state, local and private interests, the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin reported yesterday.

The commission's November newsletter explains that the federal government will pick up about two-thirds of the total tab for the multi-purpose dam.

Figures supplied the commission by the Army Corps of Engineers give a better picture of the dam's financing that has been available until now.

The dam will have four basic purposes — flood control, water supply, water quality control and recreation.

The federal government will pay the whole cost of the flood control segment, $11.3 million; for the recreation benefits; and for the water quality improvement benefits, estimated at $16.7 million in the upstream areas and $4.3 million downstream.

All costs of water supply, or low-flow augmentation benefits, would be paid by other than federal beneficiaries — that is, by state, county, community or private interests which are water users.

The initial cost to upstream interests on construction of the dam would be set at $2.9 million, and the future allocation would be $10.5 million. Downstream interests would pay $3.5 million.

In all, the federal government would pay about $34 million, and non-federal contributors about $17 million. The government would pay all initial costs and beneficiaries would pay their shares when they start using the water, on low-interest payments over 50 years.

The only cost not specifically spelled out in this report is for recreation. Since the federal government's share is put at about $34 million and its specified contributions add up to $32.3 million, recreation apparently would be somewhere around $2 million.

County To Get $116,145 Check

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The comptroller's office has mailed $5,079,322 to Baltimore City and eight counties as an advance of their share of the income tax revenue for the second and third quarters this year.

The subdivisions received only $4,669,193 for similar periods last year.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Friday the distribution represents the estimated share of the subdivisions from second and third quarter 1962 collections of withholding taxes and estimated tax payments on declarations.

The distribution to the counties also included Allegany $116,145; Anne Arundel $484,127; Garrett $12,574; Harford $143,206; Kent $22,677; Queen Annes $24,550, and Washington $134,518.

The advance distribution is requested only by those subdivisions which operate on a calendar year rather than a fiscal year ending June 30.

Santa Lights Christmas Display

Democrats Spent $371,947 For State Campaign

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Democrats reported Friday they spent $371,947 in their statewide campaign for the Nov. 6 elections.

Their list of contributions for the first time included the names of nearly 1,300 individuals who bought tickets for a $100 dinner for Gov. Tawes.

Republicans had complained during the campaign that proceeds from previous such fund raising affairs had been lumped in a single entry.

Receipts from the dinner were listed at $324,150 out of total contributions of $371,806 reported to the Circuit Court in Baltimore by Nicholas C. Mueller, treasurer of the campaign committee.

The law requires that all candidates report expenses and contributions to the courts by midnight next Monday.

The statewide Democratic figures indicate a deficit of $141. However, expenses for the dinner are incomplete and receipts still show a credit of $13,151.

Finan Contends Supreme Court Lacks Authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — A brief contending that the U.S. Supreme Court lacks jurisdiction to hear a case involving distributoin of seats in the Maryland Senate was filed Friday by the attorney general.

Thomas B. Finan, the state's highest legal officer, contended in the brief that the allocation of seats among the 23 counties and Baltimore City constitutes no violation of the U. S. Constitution. The brief said the General Assembly should be allowed to decide its own apportionment and not the courts.

The brief was in connection with a suit brought by the Maryland Commission for Fair Representation, a committee of citizens seeking more Senate seats for metropolitan counties.

The group, in its suit filed with the high court, said Maryland's present apportionment violated the 14th Amendment by denying "equal protection of the laws."

The Supreme Court already has declared itself qualified to hear such cases in suits brought from other states.

Under present apportionment, about 34 per cent of the seats in the State Senate represent 76 per cent of the total Maryland population.

In a brief filed Friday, Finan contended the Maryland apportionment follows closely the federal system, where Senate seats reflect geography and the House of Representatives reflects population.

River Meeting Is Scheduled At Alexandria

The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin will hold its winter meeting January 24 and 25 at the George Mason Hotel in Alexandria, Va.

Waste disposal problems in the metropolitan Washington area will be the principal topic of discussion. Besides considering the Wolman-Geyeer sewerage and waste disposal report, the group will probably tour the newly opened Dulles International Airport at Chantilly, Va.

The trip will include part of the Potomac interceptor still under construction, and sewage lagoons that will handle airport wastes until the interceptor goes into operatioon.

4-H Leaders Meeting Set

Allegany County 4-H Local Leaders will hold a dinner meeting on Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at Sheehe's Restaurant on North Mechanic Street.

Guest speakers will be Guy Gienger, agricultural engineer at the Extension Service, University of Maryland, and Sherard Wilson, state 4-H club agent.

They will discuss the 4-H automotive program, said Charles Babich, assistant Allegany County farm agent in charge of 4-H work, who will be master of ceremonies.

As of yesterday there were 26 reservations for the dinner, Mr. Babich said.

SCS Report Is Given At Meeting Here

Four new cooperators are getting an assist from the local office of the Soil Conservation Service, according to Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the SCS, who presented his monthly report at a meeting of the Allegany Soil District Supervisors yesterday.

He said James Phillips of Lonaconing, who has 326 acres of ground, is interested in improving his woodland. Elmer Holler of Barton, who has 128 acres of land, is interested in a basic conservation plan.

B. S. Mellon, Fifteen Mile Creek is interested in drainage and improvement of hay land. He has 90 acres of land.

An Oldtown resident, R. W. Brown, who has 193 acres of land, said he is interested in the improvement of his woodland, cropland and would like a farm pond installed.

Basis conservation plans were worked out for the Valley View Angus farm where there is 648 acres and 64 acres of land belonging to James Barnhart. Other plans are being worked on for Chester Erickson, Albert Ryan and the Boy Scouts of America.

The revision of basic plans were made for Ernest Slider, 150 acres; Ralph Buser, 15 acres; and James Fry, 135 acres. Others are being worked on the Cardinal Club and for Paul Browning.

Mains and laterals (open ditch) were completed on the Chelsie A. Liller farm at Barton and a farm pond survey was made for James Barnhart.

Mr. Gordon also reported that Rhea T. Kincaid, conservationist agronomist, spent two days in this district gathering data on the cost of growing some crops in the county. The information is to be used in the revised technical guide of the county.

Kenneth Stone, soil scientist, attended the SCS training session in College Park and also did soil mapping in Garrett County.

Yule Shopping Season Opens With Bang Here

Santa Turns On Street Decorations

The Christmas shopping season officially opened last night as yuletide street decorations installed by the Downtown Cumberland Business Association were lighted.

Shoppers from all parts of the Tri-State section began arriving here during the morning to start off the biggest Christmas shopping day of the Yuletide.

The throngs of shoppers crowded the downtown business section until dusk, when the crowds slackened a bit and then built up during the evening shopping hours.

Business Is Brisk

Traffic was heavy in the central sections of the city throughout the day.

Some stores reported that business was so brisk at noon that clerks were unable to eat on schedule.

Arthur Friedland, chairman of the Downtown Cumberland Business Association, said all reports indicated it was an "excellent" shopping day.

Stocks of all stores are at the peak, offering shoppers a wide variety of choice merchandise, he said.

Christmas shopping has been in progress for several weeks and began when Christmas Club checks were issued.

Get Day Off

Shoppers braved brisk but sunny weather as they hustled about.

Among those seen were many visitors who came home for the Thanksgiving holiday and were making a long weekend of it.

The parking lots in the downtown section did a good business handling the hundreds of cars that converged from points in the Tri-State area into the Queen City.

Many of those in the city were employes in local industry who were given Friday off so that they could have a long weekend. The staff at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and some other employes received the day off.

Seal Sale Returns Lag

Christmas seal returns are running $369 behind collections for the same time last year, according to a report by Mrs. Dorothy McKenty, executive secretary, and Glenn K. Davis, seal campaign chairman for Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association.

Of 22,497 seals mailed November 12 in both counties, 3,359 replies have been received, and a total of $5,284 as compared with $5,653.08 last year.

The return in Allegany County is $4,689 as compared to $4,842.83 for the same period last year. In Garrett County returns total $595 compared to $810.25 last year.

Mrs. McKenty said persons who have moved and who have not received their seals can expect them in a few days, as they are in the process of being remailed.

Additional seals can be obtained by calling PA 2-1500.

CWV To Mark Anniversary

John A. Jarosinski, Baltimore, state commander of Catholic War Veterans, will be among the guests who plan to attend the 10th anniversary dinner-dance of Victor Tambolleo Post 1712 which will be held today beginning at 5:30 p.m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Glenn E. Kimberlin, past commander of the local post, said a cocktail party will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will be followed by dinner an hour later. The dance will begin at 9 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Rev. Rufus J. Wicelinski, OFM, a member of the Franciscan Order, past state and national chaplain of the CWV and currently chaplain at the Newton D. Baker VA Center, Martinsburg.

Other guests will include Peter F. Fydzynski of Baltimore, first vice commander of the state, and Mrs. Inez Everd, Baltimore, state president of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Gertrude Reagan of Mt. Savage is president of the auxiliary unit to the local post, which is the only unit in Western Maryland.

Local Laundry Broken Into; Clothes Taken

The breaking and entering and theft of some clothes from the Union Laundry, 310 Seymour Street, was reported to city police yesterday.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van said Robert McCracken, manager, complained that someone threw something through the front door glass, entered the premises and took a man's sport coat, a pair of slacks and a pair of dark trousers from a clothing rack, and a staple gun.

The local business establishment had been given a routine check Thursday at 2 a. m. by a local detective agency.

The 'Wicked' Truth

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Troy Gatlin, who looks enough like Vice President Lyndon Johnson to be his twin, was dining with his wife in a swank restaurant.

Not far away a group of diners eyed him closely, whispering excitedly.

As the Gatlins were leaving, a woman member of the group rose, strode up and addressed him as the vice president.

"S-ssh," Gatlin said, nodding toward his wife. "The lady with me is NOT MRS. JOHNSON."

Does It Eat Mice?

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A seagull which seems to think it's a cat makes an odd pet.

Mrs. Jean Sellers reports that the bird won't fly, but follows her around, rubbing against her leg like a cat. It won't eat unless the food is put in water in the bathtub.

What, Again?

NEW YORK (AP) — It wasn't snow, or rain, or heat or gloom of night that kept mailman Thomas X. Reilly from his appointed rounds—it was a dog bite.

He's getting used to it, however. A letter carrier for the past 22 years, this was his 15th bite. He still likes dogs, though, and has one of his own.

Ernest Borgnine Calls Upon Experience For Navy Series

The new television season has brought us a number of new series based on experience in the Armed Forces—"Gallant Men," "Combat," "Don't Call Me Charlie," "Ensign O'Toole," "McHale's Navy"—to name a few. Some are realistic; some, in the lighter vein. "McHale's Navy" falls in the latter category.

Ernest Borgnine, who stars as the gutsy but comedic Lt. Cmdr. Quinton McHale, is a veteran of ten years in the Navy (he started out as an apprentice seaman and was discharged in 1945 as a Chief Petty Officer gunner's mate).

"It's been 17 years now since the end of the war, and memories of the bad moments have faded for most of us who were in the thick of it. Now it's the pleasant things that are recalled, the fun, the laughs that cropped up even during the worst times. At least that's the way it is with me, and I think that goes for most of the World War II vets," Borgnine points out.

As Lt. Cmdr. Quinton McHale, Borgnine skippers PT 73 with what is probably the raunchiest crew ever assembled on a deck since the privateering days of the American Revolution.

Tammy Grimes Signs For TV Guest Spot

Tammy Grimes, who just finished with more than two years in the title role of the hit play "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," is signing for guest appearances in television far in advance. She's just been booked for the Garry Moore variety hour over CBS on January 15, 1963.

Man Is Held For Jury In Entry, Theft

$60 Taken From Service Station

A 24-year-old Paca Street man charged with breaking into his employer's service station late Wednesday night and taking about $60 in cash was committed to Allegany County Jail yesterday in default of $500 bond by Trial Magistrate Paul W. Barnett, who ordered him held for the April term of the grand jury.

Donald L. Walters, of 237 Paca Street, an employe of the Powers Service Station, Henderson Avenue, was arrested at 10:35 a. m. Thursday by City Police Detective Captain James E. Van and Officer William Valentine.

After extensive questioning the man signed a two-page statement admitting his guilt, according to Van who said the station was broken into about 11:45 p. m. Wednesday after the night men had closed for the day.

Van said an 18-by-20-inch window on the ground floor in an alley alongside the building was broken and Walters crawled through. In the process he cut himself on the right thumb, and bloodstains left at the scene led to the man's arrest.

Walters entered the office, found some keys in a desk drawer and tried them until he was able to open a cabinet, where he found a bank bag containing about $60 in bills and coins, $46 of which was later recovered at Walters' home, Van said.

When Van went to the Walters residence to investigate, he noticed a green jacket on a chair, and upon closer inspection found the jacket had been snagged on the jagged glass of the window.

Bloomington Dam Awaits Financing Pact

U. S. To Pay 2/3 Of Total Cost

Construction of a $51 million high dam on the North Branch of the Potomac at Bloomington can't get started until financing arrangements are worked out among federal, state, local and private interests, the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin reported yesterday.

The commission's November newsletter explains that the federal government will pick up about two-thirds of the total tab for the multi-purpose dam.

Figures supplied the commission by the Army Corps of Engineers give a better picture of the dam's financing that has been available until now.

The dam will have four basic purposes — flood control, water supply, water quality control and recreation.

The federal government will pay the whole cost of the flood control segment, $11.3 million; for the recreation benefits; and for the water quality improvement benefits, estimated at $16.7 million in the upstream areas and $4.3 million downstream.

All costs of water supply, or low-flow augmentation benefits, would be paid by other than federal beneficiaries — that is, by state, county, community or private interests which are water users.

The initial cost to upstream interests on construction of the dam would be set at $2.9 million, and the future allocation would be $10.5 million. Downstream interests would pay $3.5 million.

In all, the federal government would pay about $34 million, and non-federal contributors about $17 million. The government would pay all initial costs and beneficiaries would pay their shares when they start using the water, on low-interest payments over 50 years.

The only cost not specifically spelled out in this report is for recreation. Since the federal government's share is put at about $34 million and its specified contributions add up to $32.3 million, recreation apparently would be somewhere around $2 million.

County To Get $116,145 Check

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The comptroller's office has mailed $5,079,322 to Baltimore City and eight counties as an advance of their share of the income tax revenue for the second and third quarters this year.

The subdivisions received only $4,669,193 for similar periods last year.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Friday the distribution represents the estimated share of the subdivisions from second and third quarter 1962 collections of withholding taxes and estimated tax payments on declarations.

Baltimore City received $2,495,222 to lead all the subdivisions while Montgomery County received $1,646,300.

The distribution to the counties also included Allegany $116,145; Anne Arundel $484,127; Garrett $12,574; Harford $143,206; Kent $22,677; Queen Annes $24,550, and Washington $134,518.

The advance distribution is requested only by those subdivisions which operate on a calendar year rather than a fiscal year ending June 30.

Santa Lights Christmas Display

Democrats Spent $371,947 For State Campaign

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Democrats reported Friday they spent $371,947 in their statewide campaign for the Nov. 6 elections.

Their list of contributions for the first time included the names of nearly 1,300 individuals who bought tickets for a $100 dinner for Gov. Tawes.

Republicans had complained during the campaign that proceeds from previous such fund raising affairs had been lumped in a single entry.

Receipts from the dinner were listed at $324,150 out of total contributions of $371,806 reported to the Circuit Court in Baltimore by Nicholas C. Mueller, treasurer of the campaign committee.

The law requires that all candidates report expenses and contributions to the courts by midnight next Monday.

The statewide Democratic figures indicate a deficit of $141. However, expenses for the dinner are incomplete and receipts still show a credit of $13,151.

Finan Contends Supreme Court Lacks Authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — A brief contending that the U.S. Supreme Court lacks jurisdiction to hear a case involving distributoin of seats in the Maryland Senate was filed Friday by the attorney general.

Thomas B. Finan, the state's highest legal officer, contended in the brief that the allocation of seats among the 23 counties and Baltimore City constitutes no violation of the U. S. Constitution. The brief said the General Assembly should be allowed to decide its own apportionment and not the courts.

The brief was in connection with a suit brought by the Maryland Commission for Fair Representation, a committee of citizens seeking more Senate seats for metropolitan counties.

The group, in its suit filed with the high court, said Maryland's present apportionment violated the 14th Amendment by denying "equal protection of the laws."

The Supreme Court already has declared itself qualified to hear such cases in suits brought from other states.

Under present apportionment, about 34 per cent of the seats in the State Senate represent 76 per cent of the total Maryland population.

River Meeting Is Scheduled At Alexandria

The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin will hold its winter meeting January 24 and 25 at the George Mason Hotel in Alexandria, Va.

The trip will include part of the Potomac interceptor still under construction, and sewage lagoons that will handle airport wastes until the interceptor goes into operatioon.

SCS Report Is Given At Meeting Here

Four new cooperators are getting an assist from the local office of the Soil Conservation Service, according to Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the SCS, who presented his monthly report at a meeting of the Allegany Soil District Supervisors yesterday.

He said James Phillips of Lonaconing, who has 326 acres of ground, is interested in improving his woodland. Elmer Holler of Barton, who has 128 acres of land, is interested in a basic conservation plan.

B. S. Mellon, Fifteen Mile Creek is interested in drainage and improvement of hay land. He has 90 acres of land.

An Oldtown resident, R. W. Brown, who has 193 acres of land, said he is interested in the improvement of his woodland, cropland and would like a farm pond installed.

Basis conservation plans were worked out for the Valley View Angus farm where there is 648 acres and 64 acres of land belonging to James Barnhart. Other plans are being worked on for Chester Erickson, Albert Ryan and the Boy Scouts of America.

The revision of basic plans were made for Ernest Slider, 150 acres; Ralph Buser, 15 acres; and James Fry, 135 acres. Others are being worked on the Cardinal Club and for Paul Browning.

Mains and laterals (open ditch) were completed on the Chelsie A. Liller farm at Barton and a farm pond survey was made for James Barnhart.

Mr. Gordon also reported that Rhea T. Kincaid, conservationist agronomist, spent two days in this district gathering data on the cost of growing some crops in the county. The information is to be used in the revised technical guide of the county.

Kenneth Stone, soil scientist, attended the SCS training session in College Park and also did soil mapping in Garrett County.

Yule Shopping Season Opens With Bang Here

Santa Turns On Street Decorations

The Christmas shopping season officially opened last night as yuletide street decorations installed by the Downtown Cumberland Business Association were lighted.

Shoppers from all parts of the Tri-State section began arriving here during the morning to start off the biggest Christmas shopping day of the Yuletide.

The throngs of shoppers crowded the downtown business section until dusk, when the crowds slackened a bit and then built up during the evening shopping hours.

Business Is Brisk

Traffic was heavy in the central sections of the city throughout the day.

Some stores reported that business was so brisk at noon that clerks were unable to eat on schedule.

Arthur Friedland, chairman of the Downtown Cumberland Business Association, said all reports indicated it was an "excellent" shopping day.

Stocks of all stores are at the peak, offering shoppers a wide variety of choice merchandise, he said.

Christmas shopping has been in progress for several weeks and began when Christmas Club checks were issued.

Get Day Off

Shoppers braved brisk but sunny weather as they hustled about.

Among those seen were many visitors who came home for the Thanksgiving holiday and were making a long weekend of it.

The parking lots in the downtown section did a good business handling the hundreds of cars that converged from points in the Tri-State area into the Queen City.

Many of those in the city were employes in local industry who were given Friday off so that they could have a long weekend. The staff at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and some other employes received the day off.

Seal Sale Returns Lag

Christmas seal returns are running $369 behind collections for the same time last year, according to a report by Mrs. Dorothy McKenty, executive secretary, and Glenn K. Davis, seal campaign chairman for Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association.

Of 22,497 seals mailed November 12 in both counties, 3,359 replies have been received, and a total of $5,284 as compared with $5,653.08 last year.

The return in Allegany County is $4,689 as compared to $4,842.83 for the same period last year. In Garrett County returns total $595 compared to $810.25 last year.

Mrs. McKenty said persons who have moved and who have not received their seals can expect them in a few days, as they are in the process of being remailed.

Additional seals can be obtained by calling PA 2-1500.

Glenn E. Kimberlin, past commander of the local post, said a cocktail party will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will be followed by dinner an hour later. The dance will begin at 9 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Rev. Rufus J. Wicelinski, OFM, a member of the Franciscan Order, past state and national chaplain of the CWV and currently chaplain at the Newton D. Baker VA Center, Martinsburg.

Other guests will include Peter F. Fydzynski of Baltimore, first vice commander of the state, and Mrs. Inez Everd, Baltimore, state president of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Gertrude Reagan of Mt. Savage is president of the auxiliary unit to the local post, which is the only unit in Western Maryland.

Local Laundry Broken Into; Clothes Taken

The breaking and entering and theft of some clothes from the Union Laundry, 310 Seymour Street, was reported to city police yesterday.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van said Robert McCracken, manager, complained that someone threw something through the front door glass, entered the premises and took a man's sport coat, a pair of slacks and a pair of dark trousers from a clothing rack, and a staple gun.

The local business establishment had been given a routine check Thursday at 2 a. m. by a local detective agency.

Jim Anderson Battles Image Of TV Father

"Jim Anderson has sure been a tough man to follow," says Robert Young who plays him on ABC-TV's "Father Knows Best."

"He's a great guy and I'm glad to have known him, but he has certainly given me trouble."

When Jim Anderson, the character, was created for the series, he was given many of the attributes of Robert Young. These similarities often made it difficult for the public and even Young's family to separate the two men.

Anderson was given the quiet dignity and the manner of the actor. He was given a family of growing children and the intellectual approach that marks Young's own personal life. The major difference was that Anderson was given good writers.

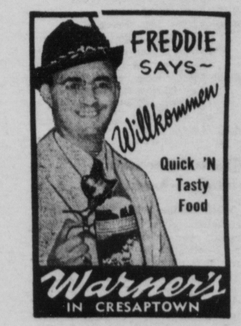

"My four daughters and my wife just couldn't understand why I was unable to solve family problems and domestic crisis with the grace, understanding and aplomb with which Anderson meets them," admits Young.

Then there's the volume of letters sent in by viewers to Young, requesting advice on personal problems and family matters.

"The best I could do was to forward them to competent authorities," he says. "I've tried combing the scripts for ready-made solutions to problems, but it never worked out. It seems that I have a saintly Frankenstein on my hands."

Loves Adventure

Jack Lord of "Stoney Burke" loves an adventure. At 14 he went to sea in a merchant ship and eventually received his mate's papers. His father owned a small fleet of boats in the China Sea. Later, Lord spent 14 months in Persia building roads and bridges.

Billy Sands Composes Traffic Safety Jingle

The National Safety Council is campaigning to make automobile drivers conscious of the hazards involved in careless driving. Billy Sands sends along this jingle.

"Little Boy Blue come blow your horn. Your car's at the crossroads, your brake lining's worn. But little Boy Blue made nary a peep . . . now he's under a tombstone fast asleep."

Sportscaster Draws Upon Pilot Savvy For 'Wide World Of Sports' Telecast

Bill Fleming felt right at home when he was assigned as commentator for the "Wide World of Sports" National Air Races. He is a licensed pilot.

"I've been flying for more than four years," he recalls. "Actually I took flying lessons because of my work as a sports commentator and eventually bought a plane."

"There are several cities in the Midwest where I had regular assignments and could not get good plane connections. I decided it would be easier to fly there myself.

"I've flown myself to many Wide World of Sports assignments in the East, Midwest and South to places ranging from Philadelphia to Indianapolis to Daytona Beach, Florida.

"However, when I come to places such as Chino where the Air Races were held—I fly commercial jet—I'm not about to fly over those big mountains in my Cessna 172."

Bill often takes his entire family with him on his ABC-TV sports flights.

"My wife is also learning to fly," he reports.

Edie Adams 'Hip' About Taxes Now

Edie Adams, singer-comedienne, took a course in Federal Tax Accounting at UCLA early this year. "I'm one of those gals who could not keep my checking account in balance, much less figure out the intricacies of my income tax," says Edie. "But I'm hip now."

The award-winning "Art Carney Meets Peter and the Wolf," with the Bil Baird Marionettes, returns for the third time, Sunday, Nov. 25, over ABC-TV. Bil and Cora Baird created an animal world of 50 puppets to support Carney in this widely acclaimed special.

Ernest Borgnine Calls Upon Experience For Navy Series

The new television season has brought us a number of new series based on experience in the Armed Forces—"Gallant Men," "Combat," "Don't Call Me Charlie," "Ensign O'Toole," "McHale's Navy"—to name a few. Some are realistic; some, in the lighter vein. "McHale's Navy" falls in the latter category.

Ernest Borgnine, who stars as the gutsy but comedic Lt. Cmdr. Quinton McHale, is a veteran of ten years in the Navy (he started out as an apprentice seaman and was discharged in 1945 as a Chief Petty Officer gunner's mate).

"It's been 17 years now since the end of the war, and memories of the bad moments have faded for most of us who were in the thick of it. Now it's the pleasant things that are recalled, the fun, the laughs that cropped up even during the worst times. At least that's the way it is with me, and I think that goes for most of the World War II vets," Borgnine points out.

As Lt. Cmdr. Quinton McHale, Borgnine skippers PT 73 with what is probably the raunchiest crew ever assembled on a deck since the privateering days of the American Revolution.

Tammy Grimes Signs For TV Guest Spot

Tammy Grimes, who just finished with more than two years in the title role of the hit play "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," is signing for guest appearances in television far in advance. She's just been booked for the Garry Moore variety hour over CBS on January 15, 1963.

Jim Anderson Battles Image Of TV Father

"Jim Anderson has sure been a tough man to follow," says Robert Young who plays him on ABC-TV's "Father Knows Best."

"He's a great guy and I'm glad to have known him, but he has certainly given me trouble."

When Jim Anderson, the character, was created for the series, he was given many of the attributes of Robert Young. These similarities often made it difficult for the public and even Young's family to separate the two men.

Anderson was given the quiet dignity and the manner of the actor. He was given a family of growing children and the intellectual approach that marks Young's own personal life. The major difference was that Anderson was given good writers.

"My four daughters and my wife just couldn't understand why I was unable to solve family problems and domestic crisis with the grace, understanding and aplomb with which Anderson meets them," admits Young.

Then there's the volume of letters sent in by viewers to Young, requesting advice on personal problems and family matters.

"The best I could do was to forward them to competent authorities," he says. "I've tried combing the scripts for ready-made solutions to problems, but it never worked out. It seems that I have a saintly Frankenstein on my hands."

Loves Adventure

Jack Lord of "Stoney Burke" loves an adventure. At 14 he went to sea in a merchant ship and eventually received his mate's papers. His father owned a small fleet of boats in the China Sea. Later, Lord spent 14 months in Persia building roads and bridges.

Sportscaster Draws Upon Pilot Savvy For 'Wide World Of Sports' Telecast

Bill Fleming felt right at home when he was assigned as commentator for the "Wide World of Sports" National Air Races. He is a licensed pilot.

"I've been flying for more than four years," he recalls. "Actually I took flying lessons because of my work as a sports commentator and eventually bought a plane."

"There are several cities in the Midwest where I had regular assignments and could not get good plane connections. I decided it would be easier to fly there myself.

"I've flown myself to many Wide World of Sports assignments in the East, Midwest and South to places ranging from Philadelphia to Indianapolis to Daytona Beach, Florida.

"However, when I come to places such as Chino where the Air Races were held—I fly commercial jet—I'm not about to fly over those big mountains in my Cessna 172."

Bill often takes his entire family with him on his ABC-TV sports flights.

"My wife is also learning to fly," he reports.

Edie Adams 'Hip' About Taxes Now

Edie Adams, singer-comedienne, took a course in Federal Tax Accounting at UCLA early this year. "I'm one of those gals who could not keep my checking account in balance, much less figure out the intricacies of my income tax," says Edie. "But I'm hip now."
